IRISH PUBLIC UTILITY SOCIETIES.

HOW THEY ARE ASSISTING BUILDING.

It has not yet been generally realised that Government financial aid is available in Ireland in such a form as to enable citizens with small incomes, including hand and brain workers, to undertake the development and management of their own housing. Three-fourths of the necessary capital is made available by the State; the other quarter must be supplied by those who want houses or by public-spirited citizens who are willing to lend at a rate of interest not exceeding six per cent. per annum. In addition to lending three-quarters of the necessary capital, the Government undertake to pay half of all loan charges until 1927 and for the remainder of fifty years (the period of the loan) thirty per cent. of all capital charges. Any group of men may form a Public Utility Society for the purpose of building houses under this State-aided scheme, and the society's business and management of its property will be vested (as required by law) in a board of management elected mainly by the tenants. The society's operation is, of course, subject to Government inspection and audit.

The first Society of the kind in the Dublin area is the St. Barnabas Public Utility Society, which acquired an acre of land for the construction of workers' dwellings at the West road. Ten semi-detached houses are in course of erection, and the other day the Lord Mayor, Alderman L. O'Neill, paid an official visit to the West road, and placed the St. Barnabas Society's name stone in position on one of the dwellings.

The walls of the houses being built for the St. Barnabas Society are constructed on the Calway hollow walling system, which was invented by Mr. Wm. Calway, Bristol. This is the cheapest form of any concrete system of construction owing to the fact that the patent shuttering is removable immediately after the wall is filled in with the material, and the shuttering is reused continuously. An important point in this system is the cavity in the thickness of the wall which not only saves material, but acts as an insulator. Except for one man supervising, the whole of the work is being carried out by unskilled labour, and it is claimed that this form of construction is 25 per cent. cheaper than brick, stone, or concrete blocks. The sole agents for Dublin and district for the Calway system are Messrs. George Rome and Co. (Dublin), Ltd., 60 Mespil road.

MASS PRODUCTION OF HOUSES.

A BIG SCHEME.

A scheme for the production of houses on a large scale has been initiated by the formation of a company—the Amalgamated Housing Industries, Ltd.—with the object of bringing about a union of established manufacturers of building materials, in order to ensure adequate supplies, and to carry on building operations on the basis of standardisation and mass production. The new concern will own brickfields, slate quarries, tile works, cement factory, plaster factory, joinery works, timber importing companies, and concrete construction works, with a fleet of motor vehicles for the rapid direct conveyance of materials from works to building sites. The scheme has received the written approval of Sir Charles Ruthen, F.R.I.B.A., President of the Society of Architects (and recently appointed Director-General of Housing), and Right Hon. J. R. Clynes, President of the National Union of General Workers, who, in this instance, conveys the approval of the Committee of that Union. Lt.-Col. Sir Walrond Sinclair, K.B.E., Chairman of Messrs. Henry Boot and Sons (London), Ltd., Builders and Public Works Contractors, is Chairman of the company; the Committee of Consulting Architects and Surveyors includes Sir Alexander Stenning, Sir Henry Tanner, F.R.I.B.A., and Mr. Arnold Mitchell, F.R.I.B.A. The new company claims that with its organisation houses can be erected rapidly in large numbers in all parts of the country at an economic cost.

DUBLIN NOTES.

Temporary buildings have been erected at the Custom House for the inspection of the documents which are being dug out of the ruins.

Tenders will be received up to Monday next by the Dublin and South Eastern Railway Company for the purchase of 1,600 tons of steel and iron rails and 90 tons of scrap.

Tenders for the erection of partitions, removal of galleries, and other work at the Central Girls' Model Schools will be received by the Commissioners of Public Works not later than to-morrow.

The settlement of the dispute between the bricklayers and plasters and the employers has been followed by a revival in building in the city, and operations, which in many instances were suspended for months, have been resumed.

The Rathmines Branch of the Royal Bank is being extended, and will have an additional frontage of eighteen feet carried out in cut stone. The depth of the building is being increased, and will contain a strong room and residential apartments.

The contract for building sixty houses on the [illegible] Fields site is not yet placed, because at the special meeting of the Corporation so many members left while the subject was under discussion that a quorum was not available to complete the business. Some members objected to the houses costing over £1,000 each, and a deputation from the Dublin Building Trades Union protested that £11,000, out of the total contract of £61,000, was to be sent out of Dublin for material. The delay will give the Corporation opportunities for examining the claims made regarding the large reduction of costs in building in other centres.

ITEMS.

There are 437,000 members of trade unions employed in the building industry.

Tenders are invited by 4th July for improvements at Ratoath Church, Co. Meath.

The Surveyors' Institution will meet at Norwich on Thursday and Friday, July 7 and 8.

Armagh County Council has appointed Mr. E. McConnell, B.E., Ballymena, county surveyor at a salary of £800 per annum.

The annual conference of the Institution of Civil Engineers opened in London on Tuesday and will conclude to-morrow.

Numbers of housing schemes in England are being postponed until the cost of building materials has been reduced.

The construction of 100,176 houses is in hand under the housing schemes of 1,208 local authorities in England and Wales.

Tenders are invited for the erection of a curate's residence at Ballymanab, County Armagh, for the Very Rev. Canon Corr, P.P.

Of the £1,300 required for repairs and alterations to the Lord Roberts' Memorial Hostel, Waterford, over £1,000 has already been subscribed.

Londonderry Port Sanitary Authority has accepted the tender of Mr. Charles Bonar, Shantallow, to erect a new intercepting hospital at Ballyratan for £2,820.

Messrs. John McNally and Co., Galway, have been awarded the contract for the erection of twelve houses for the Providence Woollen Manufactory, Foxford, at £6,000.

The Secretary for Mines has decided that, in view of the vital importance of building operations, cement works and brick works are entitled to draw supplies of imported coal.

The Finance Committee of the Waterford Corporation have recommended that a plot of ground, 160ft. by 60ft. at Newrath be leased to the Shell Max Co., Ltd., Dublin, for a period of twenty years.

Experiments are being conducted in a number of the large mills and factories in Belfast and the South of Ireland with the object of substituting oil for coal in boilers. The results so far achieved are considered satisfactory.

Navan Urban Council surveyor has estimated the cost of building four houses at St. Finian's terrace at £2,450, or £611 per house. After discussion, during which it was stated that houses of the same type cost £125 before the war, it was decided to get estimates for the cost of building the houses in cement instead of brick.

Nottingham Corporation has received a tender for the erection of twelve houses at a cost of £497 per house, including footpaths, fences, and drainage. Each house will contain parlour, living room, and two bedrooms. These houses will be the cheapest so far erected by any public authority.

Belfast Corporation has accepted the tender of the Consolidated Construction Company to reconstruct eleven miles of tramway track at a total cost of £231,195. Other tenders received were Mr. John Graham, Dromore, Co. Down, £259,470, and Messrs. J. and W. Stewart, Belfast, £179,901, the latter being for construction only, and subject to condition requiring a fuller explanation.

Revised tenders for the erection of 40 houses at Staiybridge (Lancashire) for the Corporation show a reduction on the tenders received in January last of £504 per house. The January tenders averaged £1,260 per house, and the new tenders average £756. The Housing Commissioners have advised the Corporation to decline the latter tenders also, and to wait for a further period in the hope of more reasonable prices.

WAGES MOVEMENT.

THE ENGINEERS' BALLOT.

Interest in engineering circles centres in the result of the ballot, which closes to-day, of the employés on the amended offer of the Engineering and National Federation Employers. The original notice of reduction of wages was that three shillings per week from time workers and seven and a half per cent. from piece workers would be deducted on 25th June, and the same amounts on 23rd July. On 10th September the Ministry of Munitions bonus of twelve and a half per cent. was to be deducted from the wages. After negotiations, the employers agreed to suspend the reduction notices until the end of June, and amended their terms so that the twelve and a half per cent. and the seven and a half per cent. Ministry of Munitions bonus will be withdrawn in the proportions of 4.16 and two and a half per cent. respectively at the commencement of the first full pay in July, August, and September. Three shillings will be taken off time rates and seven and a half per cent. off piece rates at the commencement of the first full pay in October, and three shillings off the war bonus of 26s. 6d. when the Ministry of Labour index number of excess cost of living arrives at 115 per cent., but not earlier than the commencement of the first full pay in November.

The effect of the amended proposals is that the reductions will be made in smaller amounts and will not be fully carried out until November instead of September. The ballot of the employés is for acceptance or rejection of the employers' amended offer.

The employés in the large majority of the engineering shops in Dublin and Belfast are affected by these reductions.

The figures showing the results of the ballot will be found on Page 5 of this issue.

The building trade employers of Portadown have withdrawn the notices for a reduction of threepence per hour to operatives.

Wages in the English paint, colour, and varnish trade are to be reduced by two instalments each of three shillings per week.

The Building Trades' Federation for Coleraine, Portrush, Portstewart, Ballymoney, and Ballycastle has decided to continue the flat rate of 1s. 7d. per hour to the men of the allied trades who went out on strike against the Federation's proposal to reduce the rate to 1s. 3d. per hour.

This Furnace is not Incomparable
IRISH anthracite coal is an exceptionally hot coal, melting out most firebars. BUT the firebars of the TURBINE FURNACE last practically indefinitely. Some of these firebars were on exhibit recently after four years of incessant use and they were perfect. The even distribution of the air over the entire grate area ensures perfect combustion without raking and poking at the fires. THE TURBINE FURNACE burns successfully—keeping a full head of steam—coke breeze, smoke-box ashes, dumpings, and unwashed and dirty coals, waste from the sawdust mills, and other unusual fuels.

THE CLYDE FORTNIGHT.

GOUROCK REGATTA.

It was yesterday the turn of the Royal Gourock Club to take up the charge of the Clyde fortnight regattas. There was a programme containing 75 entries, 21 of these engaging in the artisan competition for the King's Challenge Cup presented last year. The weather was quite unsuited for yacht racing, with a calm and fluky breeze. The Lady Anne again won in the principal match, the conditions exactly fitting her peculiar qualities, while the King's cutter was the most unfortunate boat of the class.

HANDICAP for yachts over 50 tons (T.M.). Course—40 miles. Start 10.30.
Britannia—King George (scratch).
Terpsichore—R. H. Lee (1 min. 20 secs.).
Nyria—Mrs. E. R. Workman (4 mins.).
Vida—W. A. Wylie (30 mins.).
The Lady Anne—J. T. Robertson (33 mins. 20 secs.).

There was just an air from north-easterly, which gave them an opening run, booms off to port and all light-weather canvas. They were together near the line, The Lady Anne showing through ahead of Vida on the weather; then Terpsichore, Britannia, and Nyria. The racing was extremely slow over the entire distance of about six miles to Skelmorlie Bell Buoy. The Lady Anne was throughout in a winning position, and took the first prize from Terpsichore by 7 mins. 9 secs.

Terpsichore (2nd prize)—3 hours 43 mins. 37 secs.; Nyria (3rd prize)—3h. 47m. 1s.; Britannia—3h. 47m. 44s.; The Lady Anne (winner)—3h. 52m. 28s.; Vida—4h. 0m. 41s. Nyria took third prize from Vida by 40 secs. Winners in other classes—Verve, Clio, Colla II., Gertrude, and Mais.

SPORTING NEWS.

LIMERICK JUNCTION MEETING—YESTERDAY.

BIG CROWD AND EXCELLENT SPORT.

It was something like old times to see a big crowd and highly interesting racing at the popular Limerick Junction venue yesterday. The last few meetings have been poorly patronised owing to the lack of railway facilities and the troubled state of the country. It was a delightful afternoon, and the heavy rainfall during the early part of the week had a beneficial effect on the course, which was still naturally a bit on the hard side.

The Stewards' Plate, which brought out a party of thirteen runners, was a very open affair, six of the field being well supported. Raheenduff and Personify were prominent for over three furlongs, after which Moorish Maid dominated the situation, and it was not out of his turn that Mr. J. S. Graham won a race. Mr. Parkinson's stable had another score later in the afternoon when Moor Haven won the valuable Limerick Junction Plate from a field of seven others. Again this was a particularly open betting race, and after Miss Brian had shown a bold front for four furlongs, Moor Haven, who ran a trifle green, came on full of running to win in comfortable style. Beymor, who was badly placed in the early stages, was running on at the finish, and performed as if staying was her forte.

King Michael, setting his big impost of 10st. 4lb. at defiance, gained another win in the Milltown Plate, this being his seventh success out of ten attempts, which included hurdle races as well as flat races. Kilcummin did backers a good turn by winning the Ballykisteen Plate, in Lord Kenmare's colours, but Quadrant, who was backed in the light of a certainty for the Railway Plate, was well beaten by Bon Amie, who led all the way. There was a splendid finish for the Montogher Plate between the odds-on favourite, Victoricus, and Lullaby, each in turn showing in front in the straight, and a strong effort on the part of Lullaby in the last few strides got her up to make a dead heat, and the owners agreeing to a division of the stake, the race was not run off. RACECOURSE GLEANINGS.

ORPHEUS ATONES FOR ASCOT.

(SPECIALLY CONTRIBUTED.)

NEWMARKET, Wednesday Night.

The Duke of Cambridge Handicap was a modified second edition of the Royal Hunt Cup, and afforded Orpheus an opportunity to atone for an Ascot failure. There was a distinct impression that Lacrosse had not shown his true form on the Royal Heath, but earlier form was confirmed, and Orpheus put up a great performance to win under 9st. 11lb. Over his distance, seven or eight furlongs, he is, in my opinion, the best four-year-old in training. Lacrosse was running on strongly at the finish, but could make no real impression upon the winner, who scored with his head in his chest.

The name of the winner of the Plantation Plate, Division II., is given on the card as Isle of White, but in published programmes it appeared as Isle of Wight. As the sire of this smart colt is White Eagle, it is more than likely that the card is correct. Isle of White and Orpheus furnished a nice double for Felix Leach's stable. The New Zealander Gray, was seen to great advantage in the handling of both winners.

The Jockey Club Stewards have aroused much criticism by increasing the charges for race cards at Newmarket a hundred per cent. The matter may seem a small one, but the general public do not regard it as such.

CHANTICLEER'S NOTES.

(SPECIAL TELEGRAM.)

NEWMARKET, Wednesday.

It is unlikely that the fields here to-morrow will rival in size those which turned out to-day, but one never knows when racing at Newmarket is concerned. Horses stated overnight to be certain non-runners frequently disprove rumour, Pondoland and Orpheus being cases in point. The performance on the part of the last-named to-day stamps him a smasher up to about a mile and a half. In the Princess of Wales's Stakes to-morrow we may not see many more than Franklin, Milenko, Long Suit, Paragon, Mount Royal, Copyright, and Polymestor or Napolyon. I shall look for a good race between Franklin, Milenko, and Mount Royal, and leave the issue to

FRANKLIN.

For the minor events my selections are:—

Selling Plate—Corset.
Exeter Stakes—Spike Island or Dry Toast.
July Cup—Tetratema.
Royston Plate—Chevington.
Girton Handicap—Marissa.

In Worcester district rain fell earlier in the week and freshened up the track, but has not softened the going very much. My selections for the opening day are:—

Stanton Plate—Mailly Mallet or Gwenllian.
Severn Selling—Merville.
Midsummer Plate—Mayfair.
Parkfield Welter—White Sand.
Coventry Handicap—Kincraig.
Gheluvelt Welter—Parapluie.

Durability—
Its wonderful durability, its remarkable fire resisting qualities, and above all its great economy are features that have made GRAVES' PATENT ROOFING the logical choice of every discerning builder for the last half century.
And their preference is fully justified, for there are roofs standing to-day that were covered 40 years ago with Graves' Patent Roofing, and are as good to-day as then.
Why, therefore, buy imported corrugated iron roofs when Ireland herself produces a material that will last twice as long as Iron, is more economical, and is insurable at a very low cost.

LAWN TENNIS.

ALL-ENGLAND CHAMPIONSHIPS.

MISS RYAN AND MDLLE. LENGLEN TO MEET.

The final of the all-comers' competition for the Ladies' Championship at Wimbledon yesterday, which was the principal event of the day, fizzled out tamely, in a runaway victory for Miss Ryan, who will thus meet Mdlle. Lenglen in the challenge round. Mrs. Satterthwaite having played well to reach the final round, was surprisingly out of form, and nothing like the player she was two years ago, when she had the distinction of being the finalist. She had apparently lost confidence in herself, and after having four times been within a stroke of winning the first game, she could make no fight of it. Subsequently Mrs. Satterthwaite won the fourth game in the first set, but that was the sum total of her success, and her defeat was overwhelming and surprising. The meeting of Max Woosnam and R. Lycett with Major Kingscote and J. H. Hillyard in the semi-final of the men's doubles also failed to realise expectations. It did not produce the strenuous game anticipated, but Woosnam and Lycett were much the stronger pair, and won comfortably, while Woosnam had a further success, for, with Miss Howkins, he entered the semi-final round of the mixed doubles, winning a capital match against P. M. Davson and Mrs. Lambert Chambers in two close sets. Results:—

Ladies' Singles—Final—Miss Ryan beat Mrs. Satterthwaite—6-1, 6-0.

Men's Doubles—Third Round—B. I. C. Norton and H. Roper Barrett beat B. Houghton and M. D. Heck—6-3, 6-3, 6-2. Fourth Round—R. Lycett and Max Woosnam beat A. R. F. Kingscote and J. H. Hillyard—6-4, 6-3, 3-6, 6-0; H. Roper Barrett and B. I. C. Norton beat F. M. B. Fisher and A. E. Beamish—7-5, 6-2, 6-4.

Ladies' Doubles—Third Round—Mrs. Craddock and Miss E. McKane beat Mrs. Armstrong and Miss Hogarth—6-4, 6-3; Mrs. Beamish and Mrs. Peacock beat Mrs. Gracey and Miss Holman—6-0, 6-0.

Mixed Doubles—Third Round—M. Alonso and Mrs. McNair beat W. O. Hollick and Mrs. Hollick—7-5, 6-3; C. F. Scroope and Mrs. Armstrong beat B. S. Deane and Mrs. Gracey—11-9, 6-3. Fourth Round—M. Woosnam and Miss Howkins beat P. M. Davson and Mrs. Lambert Chambers—6-4, 7-5.

RATHGAR CLUB.—The club "At Home" will be held on Saturday next, when the finals in the club tournament will be decided. Matches start at 3 o'clock.

INTER-CLUB COMPETITIONS, Class II.—Monkstown v. Glenageary. Played on the Monkstown ground, when the home team were successful by 6 events to 4. Stewart and Blair White (M) beat Maunsell and Head (G), 6-2, 6-3; Mack and O'Kelly (M) beat Coll and Mitchell (G), 3-6, 7-5, 6-3; Exshaw and Pim (G) beat Wheeler and Pilkington (M), 6-3, 6-4.

ROWING.

HENLEY ROYAL REGATTA.

RECORDS BROKEN.

Henley and stormy weather are almost synonymous terms. It came, therefore, as a blessing yesterday when the annual regatta opened in a blaze of sunshine, and even if it was sultry out of the shade there was quite enough breeze to temper the heat. The attendance was very large for the first day, despite the railway restrictions denying any special trains. As a matter of fact, very few trains ran into Henley from anywhere, but these were all crowded. The river presented a charming appearance during the afternoon. Eighteen races comprised the opening programme, and rowing men could not have prayed for better conditions, and with a strong following wind no wonder the times were fast, several records going by the board. The fact of the extraordinarily fast conditions quickly became apparent, for in the first race Corpus, Cambridge, knocked Vesta out of the Thames Cup by paddling home in only five seconds outside the record, and then came the first heat of the Wyfolds. Jesus College, Cambridge, not only defeated London by three lengths, but they also set up a new record for this event of 7 mins. 33 secs., beating the previous best of 7 mins. 40 secs. established by Pembroke College, Cambridge, ten years ago. One of the finest races of the day was the first for the Ladies' Plate, in which Christ Church, Oxford, took a revenge for a bumping they received. Merton led for a mile, but after being collared they faltered at the enclosure, and went under by a quarter of a length. The second eight of the Magdalen College, Oxford, were the first crew to win from the less favourable Berks Station, but they had weak opposition in Maidenhead. The Ladies' record of 6 mins. 56 secs., established by Eton College in 1911, went by the board when Pembroke, Cambridge, accounted for Trinity, Oxford, by six feet, following a great struggle, and in this event Eton set up a pretty crew that raced well against the losers, Trinity Hall, Cambridge. The Norwegian eight created a deep impression, for they won easily in record time, knocking by 1 sec. the 7 mins. 8 secs. which had stood to the credit of the London Rowing Club for 35 years. Caius and Clare had a rare battle in the Thames heat, but Radley, while rowing pluckily, disappointed in succumbing to the more powerful Shrewsbury school.

The Making of Italy.

The resignation of Signor Giolitti, the veteran Premier of Italy, has caused much anxiety among the friends of that growing country. Italian politics, like those of France, are governed by personal prejudices to a far greater extent than politics in Britain or America, and the "fall" of the Giolitti Government was the result of a well planned vendetta against Signor Sforza. This brilliant Minister has been one of the outstanding figures in European affairs for the last year. His foreign policy was dictated by sound common-sense and on the Supreme Council his influence was of an enormous value as a curb on the somewhat impetuous ideas of French Conservatism. He steered a middle course between both extremes of the political scale and satisfied neither of them. Italy preserves her balance to-day not so much because she has a strong Centre Party as because her extremists of the Right and Left neutralise each other. Both, however, seem to have decided simultaneously that Signor Sforza must be hounded out of office. He was too reactionary for the Socialists and the Fascisti deemed him far too liberal in his outlook. On last Sunday a joint attack was launched against him in the Chamber and on a vote of censure on his foreign policy the Government was defeated. Naturally, Signor Sforza resigned at once and, having got rid of him, the Chamber announced that it had every confidence in the Giolitti régime. The old Premier, however, was loyal to his colleague, and on Monday his Ministry placed its resignation in the hands of the King. Yesterday it was reported in Rome that His Majesty had sent for Signor Giolitti and had asked him to form a new Cabinet.

Just a year ago Signor Giolitti took office on the fall of Signor Nitti's ill-starred Administration, and under his experienced guidance the whole course of Italian affairs has been changed. He found the country on the verge of social and economic revolution. Bolshevist outbreaks were matters of almost every-day occurrence, and from one end of Italy to the other strikes and riots were paralysing all her normal activities. Abroad the situation was little better. D'Annunzio was hurling defiance at mankind in general, and Rome in particular, from his brigand's stronghold in Fiume. The danger of a bitter war with Jugo-Slavia was very real, and Albania was in a state of utter chaos. Signor Giolitti promptly set about the task of saving his country from destruction, and even his harshest critic must admit that he has met with a large degree of success. Revolution has been averted and Italy has started work again. Her financial deficit has been reduced by 10,000,000,000 lire. Wholesale prices since the beginning of the present year have fallen month by month. In foreign affairs the Government has been equally successful. The Fiume tangle has been unravelled and Jugo-Slavia has been appeased. Signor Sforza has been able to make his country the economic hub of the little Entente, and the Albanian trouble has been virtually settled. Furthermore, Italy's prestige among the Powers has risen enormously and her good offices have been sought by the Allies time and again. To Signor Giolitti and his gifted Foreign Secretary all these improvements are mainly due.

As the present crisis in Rome has arisen wholly out of Signor Sforza's activities in foreign fields, Britain cannot remain indifferent to its outcome. At present the foreign policies of Rome and Downing street touch at two main points—namely, in Upper Silesia and in Asia Minor. When Korfanty began his career of robbery under arms the British and Italian officers in Silesia acted in concert against him while the French stood aside in silence. The British had only a handful of men in the province and the brunt of the fighting fell on the Italians, with the result that they suffered comparatively heavy casualties. Ever since that time Britain and Italy have gone hand in hand; but all their efforts to secure Korfanty's expulsion have been thwarted by France's active sympathy with the Poles. The Italian casualties were used by Signor Sforza's enemies in the Chamber as a stick with which to belabour him, and the danger now is that his successor may try to ingratiate himself with the Fascisti and others by a complete change of policy towards the Poles. In Asia Minor the situation is rather different. Here Italy has been supporting Mustapha Kemal, more or less in collusion with France and directly in opposition to British policy, which, for some obscure reason, has been showering its favours on the Greeks. What will the new Foreign Secretary do in this case? Will he jilt Mustapha Kemal and make overtures to the egregious "Tino," or will he risk his tenure of office by following the policy of his predecessor? Whatever he does, either in Silesia or the Near East, Britain is bound to be affected by his attitude. Signor Sforza has given the Italian Foreign Office a measure of influence in world affairs which it never wielded before; and, if Signor Giolitti returns to office, the personality of the man to whom he entrusts his foreign portfolio may be destined to play a decisive part in the future of the European Entente.

Imperial Finance.

In an address to the Institute of Bankers on Tuesday night Mr. Edgar Crammond suggested guiding principles for Britain's world politics in finance. His address fell into two parts. The first was a comparison between the expenditure of the national income in 1907 and in 1920, which showed the urgent need that exists for a change in the Government's economic policy. Last year 28.4 per cent. of the national income was spent on food and 23 per cent. on national services. The cost of the same items in 1907 represented 22.4 and 8.5 per cent. Owing to these and other abnormal increases the amount which we were able to set aside for depreciation and maintenance of capital and new investments at home and abroad fell from 24 per cent. of the country's income in 1907 to 5.4 per cent. last year. Having regard to commodity prices and other factors, Mr. Crammond estimates that the national income for the present year cannot exceed £2,800,000,000. Yet the Government acts as if the country had an inexhaustible supply of wealth. Sir Robert Horne's Budget provides for an expenditure of £1,039,000,000. Deducting the sum needed for interest on the war debt and adding the amount derived from local taxation, we find that in round figures the charge for national services is £900,000,000—about 32 per cent. of national income. It is true, of course, that the Budget estimate of the revenue is £1,058,000,000, apart from £158,000,000 special revenue from the sales of war materials; but, in view of the coal strike and the stagnation of industry, nobody believes that the Chancellor of the Exchequer's expectations will be fulfilled. A merely negative policy of retrenchment will not meet the case. Mr. Crammond insists that there must be an international understanding with regard to the limitation of armaments, and that the Government must take steps to stimulate the trade of the Empire and the world. The second part of his address dealt with the position of Europe in face of the debt due to the United States, and with the problem of German reparations. On the latter problem he shares the conviction of others that Germany cannot pay the amount laid down by the London Conference without damaging Britain's economic position. On the other hand, he recognises the justice of France's claims. As a way out of the difficulty he suggests that the whole question shall be reconsidered by France, Britain, and the United States on the understanding that Britain and America will cancel the French war debt and that France will cancel the amounts due to her by the smaller Allies. In view of the recent statements of the United States Government the scheme seems to be beyond the range of practical politics.

Trinity College and Teachers.

Few will question the desirability of giving facilities to primary teachers for obtaining a University education, and no one will be in doubt as to the anxious desire of primary teachers to obtain University degrees. We are glad, therefore, to learn that Trinity College and the Church of Ireland Training College have agreed upon a scheme which will give University education to all the teachers who go to Kildare place. The foundations of the scheme are simple, as is the case with most things that are intended to be strong and permanent. They are, however, broad and inclusive. The intention is that every student who becomes qualified to enter the Church of Ireland Training College shall be entered, ipso facto upon the books of Trinity College. The professional part of the students' course will be given at Kildare place; the special University part, or Arts course, will be given at Trinity College. The professional examinations will be conducted as hitherto by the National Board; the examinations in Arts subjects will be conducted by the University. When the students leave the Training College at the end of their two years' course they will have attained the Little-go standard, or, in other words, will be already well on the way to a degree. As soon as they earn their diploma from the National Board they will be awarded a diploma in elementary education by Trinity College. A fact in connection with the scheme which will be gratifying to Irishmen is that it stands in advance of anything that has yet been accomplished in England or Scotland. The desire for a University education on the part of primary teachers is just as strong on the other side of the water as here; but hitherto it has been found possible only for a limited number of students to enter for the University course. The feature of the Kildare place scheme which is likely to commend it generally here, and possibly to make it an example for imitation elsewhere, is its inclusiveness.

Modern Pugilists.

We wonder what the old-time pugilists, who hammered one another for half a day at the rate of about £5 an hour, would think of the coming contest between Dempsey and Carpentier. As the price of his twelve-round fight Dempsey will get, whether he wins, loses, or draws, a sum of £60,000—Milton got £15 for "Paradise Lost"—and the Frenchman's not inadequate reward will be £40,000. All the resources of science will be employed to flash the news to the utmost ends of the earth. In the meanwhile millions of Americans, Britons, and Frenchmen are more passionately curious about the arcana of the two training camps—the mysterious rehearsals of "knock-out" blows on the bodies of adamantine negroes—than they were about the secret plans of German Headquarters in the most critical stages of the war. Boxing is a splendid sport and a keen interest in next Saturday's fight is natural and legitimate. Dempsey is the champion heavy-weight of the world. Carpentier, gay, handsome, and fearless, is the most romantic figure in pugilism since Mr. Bernard Shaw invented Cashel Byron. A fierce and clean test of skill and endurance between two perfectly trained men of different countries and temperaments must inspire an excitement of which no Puritan need feel ashamed. It is the commercial aspect of it all, the monstrous sums thrown into the arena, the elevation of professional sport to a ridiculous pinnacle, the mesmerised concentration of two Continents on a sixteen-feet ring, that make the whole affair rather discreditable to the reputed sanity of the twentieth century. The Dempsey-Carpentier fight will be the culminating incident in an orgy of international sport which has elbowed some of civilisation's most urgent problems out of the newspapers. After Saturday, we hope, the world will decide to return to the real business of life.

THE LORD CHANCELLOR OF IRELAND.

We are informed that the Lord Chancellor of Ireland (Sir John Ross) will be confined to his house for one week, owing to a slight recurrence of a gastric affection. He intends, however, to preside in the Court of Appeal and to dispose of some pending cases when the Lords Justices return from circuit about the middle of July.

SAD BATHING ACCIDENT AT MERRION.

TWO BROTHERS DROWNED.

Two brothers, named Thomas Conlon, aged 18, and Andrew Conlon, aged 22, grocers' assistants, who belonged to Aughnahagre, Carrickaboy, Co. Cavan, and were employed in the establishment of Mr. J. H. Dunne, Wexford street, Dublin, were drowned while bathing near Merrion Gates, Dublin yesterday. A companion, named Patrick Lynch, an assistant in Messrs. Clarke and Heerey's, Aungier street, was with them. They had not been in the water long until Andrew Conlon got into difficulties. None of the three could swim, but his brother went to Andrew's assistance, while Lynch went to Merrion for help. Before aid could reach the place the two brothers had been drowned. The bodies were taken by the Pembroke Fire Brigade ambulance to the Royal City of Dublin Hospital.

BOY DROWNED AT DUNGARVAN.

On Tuesday morning a boy named John Dempsey (15) lost his life while bathing, in company with his sister, near Dungarvan. It is surmised that one of the bathers got into difficulties. Mr. William Burke, who resides close by, noticed the young lady struggling. He immediately went to her assistance, and succeeded in bringing her to the bank in an exhausted condition. There was then no sign of her brother.

ENGLISH DROWNING ACCIDENTS.

While bathing in the Trent at Newark yesterday, Stanley Puzey, aged 22, of Newark, and Frank Bishop, aged 21, of West Hampstead, were drowned.

A conference in London yesterday on the application of the Port labour employers for a reduction of the dockers' minimum wage was adjourned to a date to be arranged, no agreement being reached.

LONDON CORRESPONDENCE.

59 FLEET STREET, LONDON,
Wednesday Night.

The death of Lady Randolph Churchill came as a great shock to most of her friends, who had been led by the favourable bulletins issued after the amputation of her foot to believe that she would make a complete recovery. Few women have held a more conspicuous place in the social and political life of the last half-century. There is little doubt that it was his marriage to the brilliant Miss Jerome in 1874 that first stimulated Lord Randolph Churchill's ambition for a political career. She was his helper and encourager all through the days when, as leader of the Fourth Party, he harassed the Gladstone Government of 1880-5 night after night, and during his all too brief Ministerial career. Then after his premature death in 1895 she entered upon a second period of influence as her elder son began to make his way in public life. She published an interesting volume of reminiscences in 1905. Those of the last sixteen years of her life would be, perhaps, even more thrilling.

Question time in the House of Commons this afternoon found Sir Maurice Dockrell and Mr. Devlin strangely united, but, inasmuch as the cause was that of the Irish hospitals, the conjunction was natural. Sir Alfred Mond stated that a committee was to be set up to distribute the grant made for the hospitals. Sir Maurice put in a claim for Irish hospitals, which had done notable work during the war, and all through the question hour Mr. Devlin appealed to a succession of Ministers for Irish representation on the committee. Sir Alfred Mond, however, could do nothing, since Ireland was not included in the terms of reference of the committee set up to inquire into the state of the hospitals in this country. Mr. Devlin wanted an equivalent grant, and, judged by his persistence to-day, he will do his best to secure it.

Lieutenant-Colonel Archer Shee asked the Admiralty whether protection could not be given to the lighthouse staffs on the south-west coast of Ireland against Sinn Fein. Mr. Amery said that this protection could not be given, but on representations by several members he consented to go into the matter again.

Mr. Brown, the new Solicitor-General for Ireland, had a hearty cheer when he rose for the first time to answer questions to-day. Mr. D. Henry hovered anxiously behind the Speaker's Chair to watch his début, but the appearance was a short one, for a number of Irish questions were either not put or were postponed.

Although Mr. de Valera has not rejected the Prime Minister's invitation to the proposed conference on peace in Ireland, authoritative Parliamentary opinion views his conditions as unfavourable for the results of such conference. His demands for national self-determination "and recognition of the essential unity" of Ireland are, it is considered, certain—at any rate, in present circumstances—to arouse suspicion and strong objection in Ulster, where they will be looked upon as a continuance of the attack on Ulster's system of self-government. Sir James Craig's refusal to accept Mr. de Valera's invitation to a conference is approved as the proper thing by supporters of His Majesty's Government generally. The position with regard to Southern Irish representatives is admittedly somewhat different, and the Earl of Midleton and Sir Maurice Dockrell, as well as Mr. Andrew Jameson and Sir Robert Woods, have accepted the invitation of the Sinn Fein leader. Lord Midleton and Sir Maurice Dockrell leave at the end of the week for Dublin.

The ex-Lord Chancellor (Sir James Campbell) has been offered a peerage by His Majesty, and has accepted.

The Government have no intention of passing into law this session the Irish Land Purchase Bill. This statement was made in the House of Lords this evening by the Lord Chancellor, in reply to a question by Lord Oranmore and Browne. Lord Birkenhead at first suggested that the noble lord should postpone his question pending the result of the proposed conference between representatives of Northern and Southern Ireland, but Lord Oranmore and Browne objected that the subject was not one which ought to be involved in any such negotiations that might take place, and he reminded the Government of the pledge they had already given on this question. To this Lord Birkenhead replied that there was not the slightest ground for supposing that the putting forward of land purchase proposals at this moment would in the slightest degree modify the situation in Ireland, and the Government, in the circumstances, did not propose to deal with the subject in the present session.

The critics of the "Key" Industries Bill suffered under great disadvantage to-night in discussing, or rather in not being able to discuss, the Bill in Committee. This was the first allotted day under the guillotine, and there was no inducement, therefore, to try to exhaust the patience of the Government by prolixity of argument. Judging by the sixteen pages of amendments, the Opposition had spent more midnight oil in the drafting of alterations to the Bill, but it was a case of many being called and few chosen. A great proportion of the available time was spent in discussing the little things, with the result that matters of moment were left untouched. The movers of amendments, who did "get a look in," made the most of their opportunities, but they found the Government in no mood to accept proposals which, in their opinion, would whittle down the Bill.

It seems extraordinary that on the very morrow of the announcement of the coal settlement the engineers should have refused, by a majority of two to one, the terms offered to them by their employers. It is, perhaps, even more extraordinary that so small a proportion of the men affected—only about 25 per cent.—should have taken the trouble to record their votes. We do not yet know what the coal stoppage has cost the country during the past three months, but, in one way or another, it must be at least a hundred millions, about half of which sum would, at a modest estimate, represent the loss to the men and their unions.

Yet we are now threatened, unless masters and men quickly come together, again with another stoppage of almost equal magnitude and with similarly widespread and disastrous effects on the other industries of the country. A strike of dockers is also threatened as the result of their unwillingness to accept a drop of 25 per cent. (in two instalments) on their war-time standard of wages.

Happily, there are other less gloomy omens. There is a growing recognition on the part of the workers in several trades that they must recognise the present economic conditions and consent to reductions necessary to enable their industry to be carried on. Thus the gasworkers have just agreed to drop the last advance which they received a year ago. The reduction will be effected by two instalments and will amount altogether to about 6s. 9d. per head per week.

THE WEST DOWN VACANCY.

In the House of Commons yesterday, on the motion of Colonel L. Wilson, a new writ was ordered to be issued for the election of a member for West Down, in the room of Mr. D. M. Wilson, K.C., who had accepted the office of Recorder of Belfast.

WELSH METHODISTS AND THE CENSUS PAPER.

The Welsh Calvinistic Methodists of Anglesey have decided to forward to the Prime Minister a resolution of protest against the advertisement of a new Sunday paper being placed on the back of the Census form, characterising the matter as a gross insult to the religious feelings of the Welsh people.

IRISH LAND PURCHASE.

NO BILL THIS SESSION.

STATEMENT BY THE LORD CHANCELLOR.

In the House of Lords yesterday,

Lord Oranmore and Browne had a question on the paper to ask the Government whether it was their intention to pass into law during the present session the promised Irish Land Bill.

The Lord Chancellor said that before the noble lord proceeded to discuss this matter he would like to draw his attention to certain circumstances. There were at present pending arrangements which might have the result of bringing to London representatives of the Northern and Southern Parliaments in Ireland. If discussions were to take place he would be unwilling to make any statement in reply to the noble lord until after the discussions have taken place, because, whether those discussions assumed a favourable complexion or not, it was quite obvious that not only this matter, but many others affecting the whole field of finance, would be profoundly modified in such discussions. Inasmuch as we would probably know exactly where we stood in the matter in about a week, he suggested that the discussion might be postponed for a short time.

LORD ORANMORE AND BROWNE.

Lord Oranmore and Browne said that it was difficult to resist an appeal such as had been made by the Lord Chancellor, and he would confine his remarks within narrow limits. At the same time he could not help thinking that this was not a subject that should be involved in any negotiations which might take place between the Government and the Parliaments of Northern and Southern Ireland. Repeated promises had been made on behalf of the Government to deal with land purchase in Ireland. He hoped that the Lord Chancellor, whose speech the previous week had filled him with dismay, and even with despair, would be able to assure them that the Government did not intend to repudiate their pledges in this matter.

LORD MAYO.

The Earl of Mayo supported the remarks of the last speaker. The Government could not ride off from their promises with regard to a land bill. The landlords and tenants were waiting for the bill.

LORD MEATH.

The Earl of Meath said that he considered that some declaration should be made that the British Government was going to adhere to their word, over and over again repeated. A land bill should be passed whether the projected negotiations were happily concluded or not.

THE LORD CHANCELLOR.

The Lord Chancellor expressed surprise that his speech of last week should have aroused feelings of dismay, and even of despair, in the mind of Lord Oranmore and Browne, for he said nothing on that occasion that had not been said before either by the Prime Minister or himself. He said that it was the policy of the Government not to put forward in positive form financial proposals which did not recommend themselves on their merits to the Government, so long as there was not the slightest reason for supposing that the putting forward of such proposals would favourably modify the actual situation in Ireland. He showed that the putting forward of any such proposals at this stage would not in any way favourably modify the situation in Ireland. It was not the intention of the Government to introduce an Irish land bill in the course of what was left of the present session, and he had suggested to Lord Oranmore and Browne that he should postpone the discussion in detail, first of the Government's decision, and secondly of the prospects of such a bill in the actual situation in Ireland. It was true that the proposals concerned with Irish land stood on an entirely different footing to these general financial considerations which everybody recognised must be the subject of discussion if any final solution was likely to be reached. The Irish land proposals affected primarily the Irish landowners, but they also affected in a very particular manner the Irish tenants. It was not less the case in this matter than in others that the contingent financial responsibility that would be taken by the Treasury on behalf of the taxpayer was considerable, and when the subject was again put up for fuller discussion it would undoubtedly require to be debated in the light of the changed conditions in Ireland since he and others last spoke on the subject.

Lord Oranmore and Browne said that he would again raise the subject at a later date.

The Unemployment Insurance Bill was read a first and second time.

Conyngham's Divorce Bill was read a third time and passed.

The House rose at 5.30.

THE DUBLIN UNIVERSITY WAR MEMORIAL.

A HALL OF HONOUR.

LETTER FROM THE PROVOST.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE IRISH TIMES.

SIR,—I ask a little space to acquaint Dublin men with the arrangements that have been now approved by the Executive Committee and by the Board of Trinity College as to the manner in which the 450 members of the College who fell in the war are to be commemorated.

The Memorial is to take the form of a Hall of Honour in connection with a Reading Room for the Library, which it is intended to build when funds permit. This will be placed between the Library and the Theatre, and will extend some paces into the Provost's garden. An admirable design by Sir Thomas Deane has been adopted, which, while not impairing the architectural dignity of the Library, will provide a beautiful as well as a useful building.

Between five and six thousand pounds have been subscribed, but a much larger sum will be needed. A meeting of the General Committee will be held next Term, and it is hoped that the Treasurers may be able then to report a large number of additional subscribers, now that the precise form which the Memorial is to take has been announced.

I should add that the Gold Medallists' War Fund (which has no connection with the official College Memorial) amounts to over £1,400, and will be used to help in educating the sons and daughters of the Trinity men who died in the war. A list of all those who served has been prepared, and will be published at the end of the Long Vacation. Professor Fry will be glad to receive any additions to it that are sent to him.—Yours, etc.,

J. H. BERNARD (Bp.),
Provost of Trinity College.

Trinity College, Dublin,
June 29th, 1921.

UNIVERSITY CONGRESS AT OXFORD.

THE TRINITY COLLEGE DELEGATES.

A Congress of the Universities of the Empire is to be held in Oxford next week, and a large number of delegates and representatives from Universities overseas have already arrived in England. On Monday last Trinity College, and also University College, Dublin, were visited by five or six distinguished University men from abroad. Sir Robert Falconer, K.C.M.G., President of the University of Toronto, was the guest of the Provost of Trinity. Dr. W. C. Murray, President of Saskatchewan University, was the guest of Dr. L. C. Purser. The Rev. J. J. Tompkins, LL.D., of the University of St. Francis Xavier, Canada, was entertained by the President of University College, Dublin, Dr. Coffey, and Professor McDonald, of Harvard and Saskatchewan, by Professor R. A. S. Macalister, of the National University. The Rev. E. MacPhail, of Madras Christian College, with his daughter, were received by Dr. F. C. Purser.

On Monday morning the delegates visited the laboratories and Library of Trinity College, and in the afternoon they visited University College, as well as the National Museum, where Mr. Armstrong and Professor Macalister showed them the Celtic antiquities. In the evening all the delegates and their hosts dined with the Fellows of Trinity College, and there was also present Dr. Anderson, the Vice-Chancellor of the National University.

The delegates who will represent the Governing Body of Trinity College at Oxford are the Provost, the Professor of Geology, the Professor of Anatomy, and Mr. E. H. Alton, F., T.C.D., M.P. The other representatives are Mr. E. P. Culverwell, S.F., T.C.D.; Mr. E. J. Gwynn, F., T.C.D.; Dr. Fearon, F., T.C.D.; Dr. J. H. J. Poole, Professor Baxter, Mr. J. E. Healy, ex-Scholar; Sir Lucas White King, Miss Purser (Lady Registrar), and Miss Mulvany, LL.D. Miss White, of Alexandra College, who played a prominent part in the Congress of 1912, has received a special invitation.

THE ROYAL SHOW.

The King's visit to the Royal Show at Derby yesterday attracted a large crowd to the ground. His Majesty spent about four hours at the exhibition, and took a great interest in the live stock. During the afternoon he witnessed the jumping competitions. He left about half-past four o'clock. The heat was oppressive, and a number of people who were overcome were dealt with by the St. John Ambulance. The attendance was considerably less than last year, the figures at three o'clock being 25,190.

NATIONAL INSURANCE.

COMMITTEES IN CONFERENCE.

INADEQUATE EXPENSES ALLOWANCE.

The summer meeting of the National Association of Insurance Committees (Ireland) was held in the Council Chamber of the Dublin County Council yesterday, Dr. Caleb Powell presiding.

The Chairman said that since their last meeting nothing had occurred to help forward the very important work on which they had been engaged, and he could only trust, and very sincerely trust, that better times would come in the near future. At their last meeting various resolutions were passed. One of the most important was that dealing with the formation of a scheme for the treatment of insured persons and their dependents. The Dublin Borough Committee put forward a scheme, but the Insurance Commission refused or neglected to submit it to the local authority, in this case the Dublin Corporation, for consideration, with the result that the Committee would have to stop giving any sanatorium treatment to insured people at the end of three months unless funds could be secured from some other source. He regretted that politics, even in this case, came first, and humanity afterwards, and the unfortunate afflicted people were the sufferers. At the last meeting they had also passed a resolution drawing attention to the inadequacy of the sanatorium benefit and administration funds of the different committees, but no effort, as far as he was aware, had been made to increase them, although increased contributions were payable by the insured people. Administration was at a standstill, and would remain so unless the administrators of the country made an effort to deal directly, outside of politics, with the work.

NATIONAL SYSTEM OR IRISH?

A letter was read from the Approved Societies' Association of Ireland submitting a resolution to the effect that the Association having carefully considered the Government of Ireland Act, 1920, in relation to the position of National Health Insurance, is strongly of opinion that there should be no change in the present system of working the Insurance Acts, owing to the many problems, financial and administrative, which would result by the setting up of a separate scheme under each Parliament. In the event of the administration being referred to the Irish Council, the Association was opposed to the transfer taking place before the 31st December, 1923, the date of the quinquennial valuation.

The Chairman said that he thought it would be better for the good of the National Health Insurance Act to let the Act go on as at present, making no difference between the North and South, and he advised the Association to pass the resolution.

The resolution was duly seconded and passed unanimously.

A resolution submitted by the Federation Executive Committee was passed, recommending the constituent associations to urge approved societies, who, as a result of the first valuation are in a position to provide additional benefits, to include dental treatment, in addition to nursing, and to associate, as far as possible, with insurance committees in making local arrangements in connection with the administration of these benefits.

ADMINISTRATION INCOME.

A resolution was unanimously passed embodying a statement that the Association expressed their non-acceptance of the scale of administration income, as set out by the National Health Insurance Commission to the deputation on the 13th April last, as being inadequate to the needs of the Irish Insurance Committees. The fact that the pressure of the powerful Approved Societies had induced the Treasury to relieve them of the charge of 2d. per member, for the purpose of Insurance Committees administration, specifically imposed by the Act of 1920, should not in any way prejudice the claim of Irish Committees for an increased Treasury grant. It indicated, however, that had the Commission, as was clearly their duty (in view of their frequent admissions that Irish Insurance Committees are inadequately financed), used sufficient pressure on the Treasury, they would have experienced little difficulty in obtaining the additional amount required, viz., £4,000, especially as the Act of 1920 relieved the Treasury of the 2·7d. per head, payable to the Committees out of moneys provided by Parliament under the 1911 Act. The Association did not agree with the Commission that the provision of sanatorium benefit was now the principal duty of Committees, even despite the increased number of applications received on behalf of ex-Service men. The effects of the war have thrown on Committees additional duties, which have at least quadrupled the work of their staffs, apart from the provisions of sanatorium benefit altogether.

SALARIES OF THE STAFF.

The Association learned with surprise the view of the Commission that there was no justification for increased salaries, as the Committees' staffs were in receipt of a war bonus. The Association's demand was not for a war bonus, but for increment of salary, based on greatly increased work and length of service, etc., the war bonus being merely an expedient to meet partly the depreciation in the value of salaries. There was no suggestion at the time that the salaries originally fixed were maximum ones, nor were they so regarded by the Committees, the clerks, or even apparently by the Commission, as the latter have sanctioned increases in the original salaries in several cases. The Association therefore requested the Commission to obtain from the Treasury a sufficient additional grant to bring the total amount available for administration up to £18,000 per annum, as the conditions in Ireland, from the National Health point of view, were not adequately considered when framing the original Act, and the subsequent elimination of medical benefit completely upset the financial stability of Irish Insurance Committees, and consequently special consideration should be extended to them.

It was also resolved that, in the event of a satisfactory reply not being received from the Commission by the 1st September, a special meeting of the Association be called to consider the matter.

Mr. O'Toole (Dublin) proposed, and Mrs. Hanley (Meath) seconded, a motion expressing dissatisfaction with the reply from the Chairman of the Insurance Commission relative to the inadequacy of the amount available for sanatorium benefit.

Mr. Moorehead (Belfast) and other members supported the motion, which was passed.

OBITUARY.

LADY RANDOLPH CHURCHILL.

Lady Randolph Churchill died suddenly yesterday morning from heart failure. Some weeks ago she fractured a limb, and later the foot had to be amputated. Mr. Winston Churchill and Mr. John Strange Churchill, sons, were with Lady Randolph during her last moments.

The death of Lady Randolph Churchill will occasion the greatest regret. As Miss Jennie Jerome, daughter of the late Mr. L. Jerome, of New York, she was one of the most brilliant American women who have married Englishmen of fame. She met the late Lord Randolph Churchill during a visit to London in 1873, and such was her charm, even in a period of beautiful women, that she captured the general imagination. Lord Randolph Churchill, then at the beginning of his brilliant political career, proposed marriage to her, and was accepted. The "match" was considered an ideal one. Lord Randolph often confessed in later years that he owed more to his wife than he did to any natural talent of his own. In her early married days Lady Randolph's rich colouring, her rich raven hair, and flashing eyes, full of intelligence, excited universal admiration. Witty, a fine speaker, cultured, sympathetic, and extraordinarily active in good works, she made herself a favourite at Court, and among all classes wherever she went. She was a fine musician, and as an amateur pianist frequently played for Queen Alexandra, who numbered her among her friends. The first great tragedy of her life came with the flickering out of the life of Lord Randolph, to whom she was deeply devoted. She had two sons, Mr. Winston Churchill and Mr. John Churchill, and in them and their careers she assuaged her grief. Lady Randolph delved in literature, and was responsible for the short-lived Anglo-Saxon Review. During the war she organised work under the Red Cross, and was responsible for entertaining the troops in the fighting lines. In 1900, five years after the death of Lord Randolph Churchill, his widow married Mr. George Cornwallis West, whom she divorced in 1913. In 1918 she married Mr. Montagu Porch, a British Army officer, then attached to the Nigerian Government. She expressed a desire to be known as Mrs. Porch, but as Lady Randolph she was so firmly established a figure in society that the use of the title continued.

The funeral of Lady Randolph Churchill will take place at Bladon, Oxfordshire, at 12.30 o'clock on Saturday afternoon.

EXPORT OF HORSES FROM IRELAND.

BANNED BY UNITED STATES.

The Department of Agriculture and Technical Instruction for Ireland are informed by the Representative in the United Kingdom of the United States Department of Agriculture that he has received instructions to the effect that, in existing conditions it is not considered advisable to allow horses to come forward from Ireland.

IMPERIAL CONFERENCE.

The delegates to the Imperial Conference met at 10 Downing street yesterday morning, adjourned for luncheon, and sat again in the afternoon. Their deliberations will probably occupy about another week. Yesterday they were again engaged in dealing with foreign affairs, with particular reference, it is understood, to the Anglo-Japanese Alliance. On these subjects no public announcement need be looked for, at all events until the whole question has been disposed of, so far as the present Conference is concerned.

SPECIAL EXTRA.

FROM "THE TIMES" OF TO-DAY.

THE WILL TO PEACE.

In a leading article to-day The Times regrets that Sir James Craig has thought it necessary to refuse Mr. de Valera's request to meet him. It regrets also Mr. de Valera's second telegram to the Northern Prime Minister, and continues:—This telegram strikes us as the work of a theoretical politician rather than as that of a statesman. Mr. de Valera knows, or ought to know, the intensity of feeling at Belfast, and he should also have made allowance for the fact that, in accepting the British Government's invitation to London, Sir James Craig took a course far from popular with many of his adherents. What his answer may be to Mr. de Valera's second telegram we shall not attempt to guess, but we are strongly of opinion that the decision of Lord Midleton and his colleagues is wise. The Government failed to reconcile the necessity for a large measure of local autonomy in Ulster with the demand of Southern Ireland for at least the outward semblance of a united country. Judging by the present situation in Ireland, and by Mr. de Valera's emphasis upon the question, it would almost certainly dominate all others at a London conference. There could be no more difficult or contentious issue, though it should be by no means beyond solution if only Irishmen will recognise the true facts of their position. On the one hand, Ulstermen must understand that they can never enjoy more than the appearance of settled conditions so long as the Irish question remains unsolved, while, on the other, Sinn Fein must realise that the inherent power of Ulster to stand apart from the remainder of Ireland has not been created, though it has been affirmed, by the British Government.

HOW TO REGAIN PROSPERITY.

The City Editor of The Times, in an article dealing with trade prospects, now that the coal dispute is about to terminate, writes:—Given the will to work, toleration, and a good heart, the prospects of recovering our trade are bright enough. The world is none too well supplied with goods; in fact, a well-known banker yesterday estimated its supply of consumable goods as not being more than sufficient to last three months. Before the coal crisis first developed, there were signs that the clouds of depression which had overhung the trade outlook were beginning to break.

THE STOCK EXCHANGE.

There were indications that the public was beginning to take a little more interest in Stock markets, says The Times, and, while the bulk of the day's business was confined to gilt-edged securities, there was more demand yesterday for Industrial and South African Mining Shares. Home Railway Stocks were a better market, but the rise in prices was out of proportion to the amount of stock actually changing hands. Scrips of recent issues were again in steady request, and Tasmania rose to par.

GOVERNMENT TRADING DISCLOSURES.

REMARKABLE DEFICITS.

A Blue Book issued yesterday, dealing with the food supply and other services during the war, provides interesting reading. There are details about the Food Ministry's experiments in manufacturing farina, which cost the country half-a-million. There were 26 food schemes connected with the Ministry of Agriculture, and most of them were carried out at a loss. The total deficit was 4½ millions.

Then there are the commissions allowed to the Food Ministry's agents. On sales of condensed milk the commission was 5s. a case to manufacturers, and 4s. to importers, in return for their services as distributing agents. Attention is drawn to the fact that certain firms who were both manufacturers and importers uniformly received the higher rate for both manufactured and imported milk, with the result that considerable over-payments, amounting possibly to about £100,000, appeared to have occurred.

CATTLE FEEDING STUFFS.

Certain cattle-feeding stuffs retained by the Agricultural Wholesale Society when a shortage was anticipated had resulted in a loss through fall in prices estimated to exceed £140,129. The Society had been asked by the Ministry of Food to submit a statement showing their reason for believing that the Government had accepted the financial responsibility for these transactions, but it was not yet to hand.

Offals purchased in Brazil at a cost of £21,112 had resulted in a final loss to the Ministry of £24,991, the cost of freight, loss incurred by shipping, delays, and lower sale prices being responsible for the deficit.

THE CENTRAL LIVESTOCK FUND.

The Central Livestock Fund, which at March 31, 1919, showed a surplus of income over expenditure of £1,341,547, had to face a deficit during the year 1919-20 of £1,554,655, so that on March 31, 1920, there was a net deficit of £213,108. Control ceased on July 5, 1920, and audited accounts of the transactions from April 1, 1920, to February 2, 1921, showed a further deficit for that period of about £1,500,000, or a final total loss of £1,700,000.

WAR RISKS INSURANCE.

With regard to the War Risks Insurance accounts, the air-craft and bombardment schemes, which are stated to be practically closed, showed on March 31, 1920, an excess of receipts over payments of £10,885,321.

EVOLUTION OF MUSIC.

OUTLOOK FOR THE FUTURE.

Professor Kitson delivered the final lecture of his series on "The Evolution and the Material of Musical Composition" in the Choral Society's Room, 4 Trinity College, Dublin, yesterday evening.

The lecturer dealt with various problems arising out of the present state of evolution in musical art. (1) Can any definite system be yet deduced from the new music as at present constituted; (2) How far, and by what means, should a student be taught this technique?; (3) The new language in its relation to ecclesiastical music and national traits; (4) The new language as it affects vocal and instrumental styles; (5) The general outlook for the future.

As to (1) the lecturer pointed out that this was an experimental age, and that the younger generation of composers had hardly had time to test the value of their experiments. There must be a sifting process before any authoritative treatise could be written.

As to (2) it was said that the person who could successfully break rules is he who could keep them. There was no short cut, no royal road, to modern technique, and the student who cannot write well in the earlier style is not going to be any more successful in modern style, though he may succeed in gulling superficial critics.

As regards the new language in its relation to Church music, Professor Kitson thought that it was, in the main, unsuitable for this purpose.

As regards nationality, the language of music was universal, and in music nationality was not a matter of language. Nationality must assert itself, not in the superficial vernacular which everyone can acquire, but was in things that were much deeper.

As regards (4) the lecturer thought that it was impossible for the voice to keep pace with the advance in instrumental music. We were in a period wholly concerned with harmonic effects, and when the balance became again restored the tremendous gains in colour would have to be restricted, more or less, to instruments, at any rate for some time. This was somewhat analogous to the history of the horns and trumpets in the orchestra.

In regard to the future, it had been said that music would probably make more rapid strides if keyed instruments were abolished, but this would seem impossible, and new constructions would enormously increase the difficulties.

Was the resource of musical composition on the verge of exhaustion, or were they on the threshold of tremendous developments? The one encouraging fact was the constant exhibition of the principle of continuity; new moves had never turned out to be false. The new developments which were universal in their Western music were the beginnings of something permanent, and they must possess their souls in patience.

THE GAIETY THEATRE.

"MARITANA."

The O'Mara Opera Company presented "Maritana" last night to an appreciative audience. The opera can best be described as a pretty romance, which is just saved from being commonplace by the prison scene. Last night Miss Mabel Dennis, as Lazarillo, achieved a wide measure of success. Her "Alas, those chimes" was a particularly fine effort. Don Cæsar's part is very exacting, but Mr. John Pegg filled it, as he always does, with outstanding ability. Miss Kathleen O'Dea played Maritana, a part which makes no great demand upon her dramatic abilities, but she sang with great purity and expression. Mr. John Olivere had the necessary presence and voice for the imposing rôle of Don Jose, and granted an encore for—"Happy moments." The part of the King was taken by Mr. John Bateman. The choral and orchestral work, under the direction of Mr. Warwick Braithwaite, left nothing to be desired.

Wagner's "Lohengrin" will be performed to-night at seven o'clock.

DEBTS DUE TO AMERICA.

At the Congress of the International Chamber of Commerce in London yesterday the American delegate said that the American public had not been convinced of the necessity for the cancellation of the debts due to America.

THE NEAR EAST.

RENEWED FIGHTING.

FLIGHT OF REFUGEES.

An official Angora (Turkish) communiqué states:—In the Bagtchidjike sector a Greek detachment has been forced to withdraw, with losses. An enemy torpedo boat has bombarded the east coast of Jalowa. In the neighbourhood of Broussa and in the Uschak sector the Turks captured several advanced enemy positions at three places north-west of Schak. At Ishialer and west of Domlen Pounar the enemy was repulsed. South of Nazila a Greek attempt to cross the River Manderes was repulsed, with enemy losses.

An Athens telegram, dated yesterday, says:—An official communiqué from the Smyrna front says that it is calm along the whole front.

Messages received here from Constantinople report that the British have carried out searches in a number of houses along the Bosphorus, and have assumed control of the policing of Constantinople, these measures including the posting-up of police notices.

CONDITIONS AT ISMIDT.

A Constantinople telegram says:—According to reports which have reached here, dreadful conditions of panic and distress prevail at Ismidt. Thousands of refugees and hundreds of cattle are dying of thirst in the streets. The Greeks are transporting fifteen thousand nationals to Rodosto, and they propose removing three thousand Jews, seven thousand Armenians, and four thousand other nationalities to this city.

In the House of Commons yesterday, Mr. Cecil Harmsworth, in answer to Lieutenant-Colonel Archer Shee, said that the situation on the Ismidt peninsula was obscure, but, according to information received that morning, the town of Ismidt was evacuated by the Greek forces on the evening of June 27. It was further reported that the town was in flames, and that great public panic prevailed in the district. Numbers of Armenians and neutral Turks were fleeing towards Constantinople. There appeared to be considerable danger of massacres, but the British High Commissioner was taking all possible steps to prevent such outrages by one side or the other.

THE IRISH RAILWAY SETTLEMENT.

The City Notes of The Times of yesterday contain the following:—

The Irish railways, for various reasons, were not included in the recent agreed settlement between the Government and the English and Scottish companies. Neither is the Irish railway system included in the Railways Bill now before Parliament, except so far as an arrangement in regard to statistics applies up to the end of the year; in all other respects the Irish railways are expressly excluded. This has been a matter of considerable anxiety to Irish investors, and it is satisfactory to learn that an arrangement has now been come to between the Government and the Irish railway companies which, we understand, is agreeable at any rate to the great majority of those railways. The compensation to be paid amounts to £3,000,000, which will be allocated by the companies among themselves in settlement of their claims up to the middle of August next. The railways of Great Britain, with few exceptions, were, of course, taken over by the Government on the outbreak of war. The railways of Ireland, however, were only taken over by the Government as from January 1, 1917, and this has to be taken into account in considering the sum arranged in settlement.

A NEW BILL NECESSARY.

Three millions does not look an imposing sum as compared with the £60,000,000 to be paid to the railways of Great Britain, but, on the other hand, the capital created of all the railways in Ireland is only about 44½ millions, as against about 173 millions for Scotland and 1,145 millions for England and Wales. A short bill will be necessary to carry through this Irish arrangement, and, of course, it will be a measure quite distinct from the Railways Bill. The Irish Railway Bill will probably incorporate this compensation payment, and allow the present rates and charges in Ireland to be maintained until the new Irish Council functions. Questions of "grouping" and new rate legislation will necessarily be left over for settlement by the new Government of Ireland, when it is completely established. Irish railway securities are very rarely dealt in on the London market, but the settlement arrived at on apparently fair and reasonable terms should facilitate similar steps which are being taken in connection with our own railways.

SHAKESPEARE AND ARISTOTLE.

CLASSICAL LECTURES BY DR. TRENCH.

In the Regent House, Trinity College, Dublin, yesterday, Dr. Trench delivered the second of his lectures on "Shakespeare in relation to the Classical Tradition." The lecturer touched first upon Aristotle's doctrine of form in relation to drama, with a view to showing that Shakespeare's practice corresponded to that doctrine in many respects. He then went on to point out that it was ostensibly as a development of Aristotle's teaching that the classicists of the Renaissance brought out in Italy and elsewhere their new doctrine of the three "dramatic unities"—time, place, and action. By unity of time they meant that the action represented must be such as could be supposed not to occupy more than one day; by unity of place they meant that the place represented must be the same throughout; and by unity of action that nothing disconnected from the main action may be introduced. When, at the close of the eighteenth century, the romantic revival took place, the feeling of the poets was well expressed by Goethe when he said, "The unity of place seemed to me irksome as a prison, the unities of action and of time burdensome fetters to the imagination. I sprang into the open air, and felt for the first time that I had hands and feet." Shakespeare criticism then found in the accidental conditions of Greek stage representation the only reason for the Greeks' general observance of those so-called unities. As for Shakespeare, it seemed unquestionable that he cared not at all for the unities, and his justification was to be that they had no foundation in reason.

The lecturer then attempted to show, first, that these "unities" really had some æsthetic basis independent of any peculiarities of the Greek stage; secondly, that Shakespeare's classical feeling for form made him endeavour not only to secure a true "unity of action," but also to secure a true "unity of time" by the contraction of the time represented in a play to the shortest possible limits. The devices to which he resorted so as to secure this unity of time were brought out by an analysis of some of his plots.

The last lecture of this series will be delivered to-day in the Regent House at half-past four o'clock, and will be open to the public.

THE ABBEY THEATRE.

PERFORMANCES BY THE DRAMA LEAGUE.

The silence of the Abbey Theatre was interrupted last night, when the Drama League staged two plays—a harlequinade in one act, "A Merry Death," by Nicholas Evreinov, and a comedy by Anatole France, "The Man who Married a Dumb Wife." The dual offering was very well received, but in the applause given to the production of the Russian play there was a big element of charity. The audience was reminded that "the work of Evreinov, though cynical, has an air of gaiety and lightheartedness that are missing in Tchekof and Andreyev." The performance disputed the statement. Evreinov intended Harlequin to live his last fleeting hours gaily, and to meet death with a heart still light. Mr. Sydney La Velle's intentions may also have been good, but he was too uncertain of his work to maintain the spirit of the rôle. Mr. Michael J. Dolan had a great responsibility as Pierrot. His performance saved the author's cynicism from being misunderstood, and he kept the play alive. Miss Aida Browne was an effective Columbine, and Mr. T. Quinn personified Death.

The comedy of "The Man who Married a Dumb Wife" has for its theme the subject of an old mediæval ballad. A judge bewails his existence with a wife who cannot talk. An advocate secures the remedial services of a notable doctor, who loosens the tongue of the wife. This irretrievable blunder unhinges the mind of the whole household. The production of this comedy was a happy contrast to the other. Mr. F. J. M'Cormick's playing of the judge was of first importance, for every word and gesture as he gave them was full of meaning. Miss Christine Hayden as the wife appeared, while dumb, to have all those attributes which induce craziness in men, and when she talked an auditor remarked, "If this play is ever produced in Dublin again I'll buy my wife a seat in the stalls." Adam Fumee, the importunate advocate, was excellently played by Mr. Peter Nolan, and a most entertaining figure was Doctor Simon Colline, as represented by Mr. W. Fitzgerald. Mr. J. Hand (surgeon), Mr. T. M'Greevy (apothecary), Mr. Alan Duncan (Gilles, the Secretary), Miss Sheiah Richards (Alizon, the servant), and Mr. P. Kirwan (as a blind beggar) contributed admirably to the comedy as a whole. Miss Madeline Carroll was also praiseworthy in the rôle of the Ward.

THE ITALIAN CRISIS.

ANOTHER GIOLITTI CABINET?

A Rome telegram, dated Monday, says:—The Corriere d'Italia states that the possibility of Signor Giolitti remaining in power is not excluded. The King received him this afternoon, and requested him to form a new Ministry, as he still had a strong majority in the Chamber.

THE IRISH PEACE MOVEMENT.

MR. DE VALERA'S INVITATION.

ACCEPTED BY SOUTHERN UNIONISTS.

SIR JAMES CRAIG DECLINES.

REPLY FROM MR. DE VALERA.

Much interest was shown in Dublin yesterday concerning the terms of Mr. de Valera's letter in reply to Mr. Lloyd George's invitation to a Conference in London with Sir James Craig, the Prime Minister of Northern Ireland. Mr. de Valera's proposal for a conference with Sir James Craig and certain representatives of Southern Unionism, to be held in the Mansion House, Dublin, on Monday next, was the subject of particular comment, and speculation was general as to whether the gentlemen approached would attend.

Sir Robert Woods, as stated in the Irish Times yesterday, promptly signified his willingness to attend, and yesterday morning Mr. Andrew Jameson informed our representative that he had already intimated his acceptance of the invitation. Lord Midleton and Sir Maurice Dockrell also have accepted.

SIR JAMES CRAIG'S REPLY TO MR. DE VALERA.

Our Belfast Correspondent writes:—Sir James Craig, Premier of Northern Ireland, yesterday received the following telegram:—

"To Sir James Craig, Craigavon, Co. Down.

"Can you come Dublin Monday next, 11 a.m.? On receipt of your reply will write you."

The telegram was signed:—

"EAMON DE VALERA, Mansion House, Dublin."

In reply to this Sir James Craig immediately telegraphed:—

"Impossible for me to arrange any meeting. I have already accepted the Prime Minister's invitation to London Conference, and, in order to obviate misunderstanding in Press between my namesake in the Southern Parliament and myself, I am publishing these telegrams.

"(Signed), JAMES CRAIG,

"Prime Minister of Northern Ireland."

Mr. de Valera's telegram was wrongly addressed; Sir James Craig being resident at Cabin Hill and not at Craigavon.

MR. DE VALERA'S REJOINDER.

A special issue of the Irish Bulletin, dated June 29th, reads:—

"DAIL EIREANN—OFFICIAL.

"On receiving Sir James Craig's telegram intimating that he was unable to come to the conference in Dublin on Monday next, President de Valera telegraphed the following:—

"Sir James Craig, City Hall, Belfast.

"SIR,—I greatly regret you cannot come to conference here on Monday. Mr. Lloyd George's proposal, because of its implications, impossible of acceptance in its present form. Irish political differences ought to be adjusted, and can, I believe, be adjusted, on Irish soil. But it is obvious that in negotiating peace with Great Britain the Irish delegation ought not to be divided, but should act as a unit on some common principle.

"EAMON DE VALERA."

WHY LORD MIDLETON ACCEPTED

The Press Association is informed by Lord Midleton that strong representations were made to him that he should accept Mr. de Valera's invitation in the interests of peace, and that after consulting his Irish colleagues in Dublin and London he has accepted the invitation to go to Dublin.

STATEMENT IN THE COMMONS.

In the House of Commons yesterday, Lieutenant-Commander Kenworthy asked the Leader of the House whether a reply from Mr. de Valera to the Prime Minister's letter had been received.

Mr. Chamberlain said that the Prime Minister had received a telegram, which he would read to the House. He then read the telegram which appeared in that morning's papers.

Lieutenant-Commander Kenworthy—Will the right hon. gentleman do his best to restrain his colleagues and followers? (Cries of "Order.")

A Press Association telegram from London states that up to last evening the Government had received no reply of any kind from Mr. de Valera and, in view of recent developments of the situation, no communication is expected for the present. The hope that the door to a conference has not been finally closed is still entertained.

THE VISIT TO MOUNTJOY DENIED.

The Publicity Department of Dail Eireann yesterday issued the following:—

"The statement of the Press Association that President de Valera visited and conferred with Mr. Arthur Griffith yesterday in Mountjoy Prison is untrue. No such indignity would be offered to Mr. Griffith by the President as to seek a conference with him within the walls of a British prison."

ENGINEERING TRADE.

RESULT OF BALLOT.

PROVISIONAL AGREEMENT.

The result of the ballot on the employers' proposals to reduce the wages in the engineering trade was announced at a conference of the unions in London yesterday. The figures were:—For accepting proposals, 125,014; against, 257,532. Subsequently, Mr. Brownlie, Chairman of the Amalgamated Engineering Union, who presided, said that they were hopeful, after a meeting of the employers that afternoon, of arriving at a settlement.

The engineers' leaders met representatives of the employers in London yesterday afternoon, and laid before them the result of the ballot. Negotiations proceeded with a view to avoiding a stoppage, and after a sitting lasting nearly five hours the conference adjourned to enable the trade union leaders to report to their delegate meeting. The joint conference will be resumed later.

As the result of the negotiations with the employers last night, the situation in regard to the engineers' dispute is considered more hopeful, and it is believed that the parties are on the way to a compromise. The men's delegate conference will meet to-day to receive the report of the negotiations.

The Press Association says:—As a result of prolonged negotiations a provisional agreement was reached just before 2 o'clock this morning between the Engineering Employers' Federation and the Engineering Union. It was officially announced that a joint recommendation for a settlement would be submitted to the delegate conference of the unions at 9.30 this morning. The terms of settlement will be announced at the conference.

COALFIELDS AND THE TERMS.

MEN RESUMING WORK.

The Mining Association states that it has learned that a serious misunderstanding has arisen in some of the coal-fields with respect to the agreed wage reductions. A report has been circulated that the reduction in July will be 2s. a shift, rising in August to 4s. 6d., and in September to 7s. 6d. The truth is that the reduction will be 2s. a shift in July, 2s. 6d. in August, and 3s. in September.

The misinterpretation appears to have arisen through the amount of the monthly cuts being added together. The terms of settlement provide for a reduction of 2s. in July, which is increased by 6d. in August, and a further 6d., making 3s. altogether, in September.

WIGAN'S ATTITUDE.

A mass meeting of 5,000 miners at Wigan yesterday afternoon, after hearing the terms of settlement, unanimously rejected them.

A special delegate conference of the Lancashire and Cheshire Miners' Federation meets at Bolton to-day.

The Yorkshire Miners' Council yesterday recommended the members to accept the settlement. The officials strongly associated themselves with the Council's decision.

The Yorkshire Colliery Deputies have come to an agreement with the owners to resume work immediately. The pits are being prepared for the resumption of operations, which it is expected will be in full swing early next week.

About 3,000 Cannock Chase miners resumed work yesterday without waiting for official advice from their local leaders. To-day it is anticipated there will be a big influx of men into the pits. Mr. Straker, Secretary of the Northumberland Miners' Association, stated yesterday that the wages concession represented 80 per cent. minimum advance on the 1879 standard in Northumberland. The proposed profit-sharing system was the greatest advance ever seen in any industry under private ownership. A proxy vote on the terms will be recommended.

LEAGUE OF NATIONS' UNION.

DISARMAMENT PROBLEM.

VIEWS OF LORD GREY AND GENERAL SMUTS.

There was a distinguished gathering of seven hundred people representative of every phase of public life at Hyde Park Hotel last night, when a dinner was given by the League of Nations Union in honour of the Dominion Premiers and the representatives of India. Viscount Grey of Fallodon, who is President of the Union, was in the chair.

In proposing the toast of the League of Nations, he said that if the experience and sufferings of war did not make some new and better things possible for the nations we should have failed to learn by that experience, and nations, like individuals, if they did not go forward, must go backward. The British Empire represented to-day the disappearance of the old idea of central control and subordination. It represented the new idea of voluntary co-operation, based upon confidence, with freedom and equal authority. (Cheers.) So, too, the League of Nations had in its way represented the disappearance of something that was old, and was the embodiment of new spirit. What had gone amongst the nations was the idea of isolation, and, as he believed and hoped, still more the idea of something which was more than isolation—that of separate and opposing alliances, and instead of that they were to have friendly inter-communications between nations. They maintained their independence, but the League of Nations was the embodiment of their recognition of the fact of their inter-dependence. Lord Grey agreed that the League was not perfect, but they believed it would be, and could be, greatly improved. They believed it would grow and develop, but in order that it might do so the urgent thing was that they should give it, in its present state, their strongest support. (Cheers.) He went on to say that they accepted the decision of the United States not to join the League as a considered decision, but that was not all. They knew that there were people in the United States who had been particularly unfavourable to America's joining the League, but they recognised with interest that some of that section of public opinion was the one that was now taking the most prominent and initiatory part in urging public opinion in the United States to support something to bring about the limitation of armaments. That was one of the great objects of the League of Nations. The United States and Canada, between them, had set the world the greatest example of reduction of armaments. Referring to British Naval policy, he said that it was essential to maintain a standard which was sufficient to prevent the communications of the Empire being threatened. We were not building against the United States. We could not make a bargain with the United States, but we could join with them in doing something to diminish armaments for us in Europe. That meant that competition could not arise in Europe again. Depend upon it, concluded Lord Grey, unless you maintain the League of Nations, and develop it, you will have presently again the beginning of that competition of armaments in Europe, and again the same results.

GENERAL SMUTS.

General Smuts, responding, said that the idea lying at the base of the League would in the end work the greatest revolution the human race had ever seen. The League was the survival of the great idealism of the war. He asked critics of the League what was their alternative, and he considered that there was no alternative to co-operation between nations. If the League was to be a success the sooner they admitted all the old enemy countries the better. He considered that the League was not sufficiently supported by the Great Powers, who reserved all their energy and all their favours for the Supreme Council. If the League were to deal with the question of disarmament effectively it would be doing a service of the highest order to humanity. (Cheers.) The struggle in future was going to be an economic one, and those nations which were going in for the race of armaments would lag far behind in the economic race. If the League could impose on the rest of the world the conditions of disarmament which had been imposed upon Germany, it would be doing great service.

LORD ROBERT CECIL.

Lord Robert Cecil, also responding, said that the League existed solely and entirely to safeguard the peace of the world. So far he believed it had done very much, indeed, but he thought that much more might be done, and much more would be done.

MR. BALFOUR.

Mr. Balfour, submitting the Commonwealth of British Nations, said that the British Empire now stood before the whole world as a proof of that faith and a higher motive and idealism with which those who believed in the League of Nations were reproached. The horrors of war ought, at least, to persuade mankind that some great efforts must be made to prevent a repetition of it.

PRESIDENT'S REQUEST TO CONGRESS.

Reuter's Washington Correspondent telegraphed yesterday:—President Harding has sent a letter to Mr. Mondell, Republican leader of the House of Representatives, in which he says that it is wholly desirable to have from Congress an expression of favourable opinion on the question of world disarmament. The President adds:—"It would seem to me ample if Congress should express itself in the broadest and most general terms. I am vastly more concerned with a favourable attitude on the part of Congress in this question than I am as to the form of expressing that attitude. You may be sure that the Executive will be ready to give every consideration to such expressions as members of the two Houses of Congress are disposed to make."

IRISH QUESTIONS.

THE CLAIMS OF IRISH HOSPITALS.

Sir Maurice Dockrell asked in the House of Commons yesterday if the Minister of Health was aware that Ireland made a very large contribution to the medical and nursing staff of the nation during the war, and that the skill of those serving was to a large extent acquired in the voluntary hospitals of Ireland, and if he would explain why Ireland was excluded from the reference to the Committee appointed by the late Minister of Health, and was, in consequence, excluded from the grant of £500,000 about to be made to the voluntary hospitals of the United Kingdom.

Sir Alfred Mond said that he gladly acknowledged the value of the work of the voluntary hospitals in Ireland. He understood that Ireland was excluded from the purview of Lord Cave's Committee as it was thought that the Irish Parliaments might be left free to provide as they might think fit for the needs of the Irish hospitals. A portion of the question asking if Ireland would be granted a sum at least proportional to her taxation as part of the United Kingdom should, he said, be addressed to the Chief Secretary.

Sir Maurice Dockrell—Was the right hon. gentleman aware that in Clause 1 of the Cave Committee report they evidently contemplated the inclusion of Ireland, and that in Clause 56 they based their recommendations for a grant from the Government for the voluntary hospitals in England on the fact of the work that they had done for wounded soldiers, and was the right hon. gentleman aware that there was no country in proportion to its facilities that had done more for the wounded soldier than Ireland. (Hear, hear.) If it is excluded from some participation in the grant it will be a grave injustice, added Sir Maurice Dockrell, who further asked if the Health Minister would give favourable consideration to the Irish case, which was one of great hardship.

Sir Alfred Mond repeated that Ireland was not included in the purview of the Cave Committee, and, therefore, the grant which he was going to ask the House for could not be affected by any question regarding Ireland. Ireland was not within the purview of his department.

Mr. Devlin asked whether, as Ireland paid its proportion to the taxation of the country, she was not entitled to an equivalent grant for her voluntary hospitals.

The Speaker said that the question should be addressed to the Chancellor of the Exchequer.

Mr. Devlin then asked if the Health Minister would confer with the Chief Secretary and see if the Irish Government could do something for those who were in the hospitals ill instead of driving people into the hospitals.

Sir Alfred Mond replied that he was not responsible for the health of Ireland, and, therefore, it was for hon. members to confer with the Chief Secretary on questions of Irish health, and not with him.

THE PROTECTION OF IRISH LIGHTHOUSES.

Mr. Amery, in reply to Lieutenant-Colonel Archer Shee, who asked if he would take immediate steps to afford the Trinity House Brethren the necessary protection for their lighthouse staff on the south-west coast of Ireland, to enable them to carry out their highly important duties without molestation by Sinn Fein rebels, said that this question had been fully considered, but he regretted that the Admiralty were not in a position to supply this protection.

Lieutenant-Colonel Archer Shee asked why was it not possible to garrison Fastnet lighthouse, which was the key to the Atlantic, and was it not absolutely necessary for the Atlantic traffic that that lighthouse should be kept without any fear of interruption.

Mr. Amery—I admit that it is very desirable that the lighthouse should be protected. The actual lighting service has not been interfered with. I gather that the only thing that suffered was the fog signal service by the stealing of explosives. The Admiralty have not seen their way to make that protection a duty of the Navy.

Lieutenant-Colonel Archer Shee asked whether the fog signal service was not actually carried on at the Fastnet lighthouse, and if that was so, considering that this lighthouse was miles from land, would the Admiralty see that it was properly protected.

Mr. Amery said that he would certainly discuss the matter further. The Admiralty did go into this question some time ago very fully, and they came to the conclusion that protection was not a matter which the Admiralty could undertake.

THE BELFAST HOLIDAY.

Dr. Macnamara, replying to Mr. Devlin—who asked whether he was aware that a large number of unemployed workers who, for the convenience of the local Labour Ministry at Belfast, had been signing up at the mills and factories at which they were previously employed, were informed that June 22, the day of the opening of the Ulster Parliament, was a Bank Holiday, and that no employment donation was payable for that day, and that, as the failure to sign up on the day broke the continuity of the week, no donation would be payable for the two preceding days—said that he understood that the facts were generally as were stated in the question. The Umpire, who was the final authority, had decided that workpeople who were on short time were in general not entitled to benefit for holidays. In this case the decision to declare the day of the opening of the Northern Parliament a bank holiday affected the continuity rule, and might have had the result of bringing about a loss of three days' unemployment benefit. If his hon. friend would give him particulars he would arrange for a test case to be submitted to the Umpire, so that he might decide whether the holiday which, in this case affected the continuity rule, was a customary holiday within the meaning of his previous decision.

PARLIAMENT.

THE INDUSTRIES BILL.

DUMPING AND CURRENCY DEPRECIATION.

The House of Commons yesterday went into Committee on the Safeguarding of Industries Bill.

On Clause 1, which gives power to charge Customs duties on the goods scheduled to the measure equal to one-third of the value of the goods imported,

Mr. Kiley moved an amendment providing that the Act should not come into force until after January 1st next, so as to enable firms to work off their existing commitments.

Mr. Baldwin said that he had no objection to fixing the date at some short distance after the bill became law. He thought that the time named was too long, and he was prepared to give until September 30.

The amendment was rejected by 189 to 77.

Mr. Kiley moved an amendment providing that no duty shall be imposed under the Act which is at variance with any treaty, convention or engagement with any foreign State in force for the time being. He said that other countries were not going to take these duties lying down, and they were certain to retaliate.

Mr. Baldwin said that the amendment was not necessary, because no duty could be imposed under Part 1 of the bill which was at variance with any treaty. In any event, the amendment would not cover the hon. member's point.

The amendment was withdrawn.

DOUBLE DUTIES.

Major Mackenzie Wood moved an amendment to secure that the combined duties on any one article in the schedule should not exceed 33 1-3 per cent. Under the bill, as drafted, he said, it would be possible to impose two duties of 33 1-3 per cent. under each part of it.

Sir P. Lloyd Graeme, in resisting the amendment, said that if an article was subject to duty under Part 1, that ought not to prevent people who produced those articles in this country representing to the Board of Trade that dumping was taking place notwithstanding the imposition of the duty under Part 1, and that a further duty should be imposed.

Captain Wedgwood Benn observed that under the German Reparation Act and this measure the combined duties might amount to 90 per cent of the value of the article, and yet, at a breakfast party recently, a section of the Coalition were assured that the maximum duty would be 33 1-3 per cent.

Mr. Mosley said that the bill was camouflaged Protection.

The amendment was rejected by 216 to 84.

Mr. Kiley moved the omission of Sub-Section 3, which exempts from duty goods consigned from or produced in the British Empire. He pointed out that Americans might go to Canada and manufacture goods which would be exempt under this sub-section.

Mr. Sturrock opposed the amendment, contending that Coalition Liberals were the only real Free Traders.

After further discussion, the amendment was withdrawn.

Sir G. Collins moved an amendment exempting from duty goods imported for the purpose of being used in ship building or ship repairing. He pointed out that Japan, America, and Germany had adopted this principle. The Government policy would jeopardise our shipbuilding industry, and make Germany the shipbuilding centre of the world.

THE GUILLOTINE.

At 7 o'clock while the hon. member was speaking the guillotine came into operation, and all further discussion of Clause 1 and the first part of Clause 2 came to an end.

The question that these should stand as part of the bill was formally put from the chair, and a division was challenged by the Opposition, the question being carried by 215 to 73.

Mr. A. Shaw protested against some three pages of amendments dealing mostly with dumping being thereby shut out from discussion.

The discussion of Clause 2, which relates to the prevention of dumping, was taken up at the point in the first sub-section dealing with the depreciation in currency.

The remainder of the first sub-section of Clause 2 came under the guillotine resolution at 10.30. A division was taken on the amendment moved by Mr. Lawson, which was rejected by 189 to 90. The figures were received with loud Opposition cheers.

Colonel Leslie Wilson then at 10.45 moved the adjournment of the debate. This was challenged and a division taken, with the result that the motion was carried by 202 to 73.

The House rose at 11.20.

CLAIMS FOR COMPENSATION

GALWAY STORES' MANAGER'S CASE.

At the Galway Quarter Sessions a claim was made by Lawrence Tallon, manager of Moycullen Co-operative Stores, for £1,500 compensation for injuries received as the result of a shot fired at him by Crown forces. Two hundred pounds each was claimed by Walter MacDonogh and Patrick O'Connor, employés at the store. They were stripped naked on the same occasion, beaten with a stick, and flogged with a whip. The military had been notified, said Mr. Fetherstonhaugh, K.C., in opening the case, but they stated that they did not interfere. Possibly they did not want to interfere in the circumstances. One could not imagine such a thing occurring in a Christian country, and there was no possible justification for the brutal treatment which these men had received. The co-operative stores was surrounded by regular soldiers, who did not further interfere, but then a lorry of mixed forces came along. They ordered "hands up" in the store, took Mr. Tallon and the others out, and as Mr. Tallon was returning, when the others had been taken to be flogged, a man fired a shot at him from a shotgun from sixteen paces. He guarded with his hand, and got the grains in the hand, back of the ear, and down the side. His hearing was permanently impaired. Then shots were fired through the windows, and the young lady assistants had lucky escapes. They lay flat on the floor to save themselves.

Judgment was reserved.

THE MURDER OF A CIVILIAN.

Miss Hoade, post-mistress, Caherlistrane, told how her brother, Michael, had been shot dead after the Kilroe ambush. Three lorries of Crown forces and a private car came to the house. She cried to her brother: "Here are the Black and Tans." He said that he did not mind. They took him out, shot him dead within fifty yards of the house, and then returned and told her that there would be no more ambushes. She swore that her brother never took part in any political movement, and did nothing but look after the business of his shop. Counsel said that two other men in the district were murdered about the same time.

Judgment was reserved.

Colonel Barnard, Castlehackett, Tuam, was awarded £600 for the destruction of his house, threshing machine, straw, etc.

John Thornton, Spiddal, was awarded £700 for the burning of his house

THE MURDER OF CONSTABLE HOEY.

THREE MEN ARRESTED.

There was considerable activity in the district after the shooting of Constable Hoey, R.I.C., at St. James's Walk, near the Grand Canal Harbour in Dublin, on Tuesday evening. Extensive searches were made in the district by Auxiliary police, who arrived in six Crossley tenders, and three persons were arrested, including a man with a bicycle.

FISH SEIZED IN DUBLIN.

A RIVERSIDE SCENE.

An unusual incident took place in Dublin yesterday morning in the vicinity of Ormond quay. At about nine o'clock a vehicle in which fish were being taken, it is believed, to one of the military barracks in the city was stopped by a number of men, who seized the fish and then threw them into the Liffey. The men walked away in the direction of Capel street bridge. The fish floated down the river, and when the tide had gone out numbers of boys climbed down and "salved" many of them. They sold the fish at prices which were satisfactory to the purchasers until the arrival of parties of Crown forces. The youngsters then ran away. The men on some of the passing tramcars were searched, as well as others who were in the street, but, so far as can be learned, there were no arrests. A large proportion of the fish thrown into the water was recovered.

ARRESTS AT RINGSEND.

Shortly before Curfew hour on Tuesday night motor tenders containing Auxiliary police arrived in Ringsend. On seeing them some young men who had been kicking a ball on the road ran away. The Auxiliaries followed them on foot and arrested three or four of the number.

Tully was charged with having, with others unknown, raided a house for arms and assaulted a woman in the house, with having stolen a rifle, having set fire to the house, and with having carried arms. He was found guilty on the four charges. Maguire's house was raided on suspicion, and he was also concerned in the raid. A detonator was found which the accused said he had picked up on the road. He refused to answer questions as to where he was on the previous night. He was found guilty of having been in possession of the detonator.

Patrick Cassidy, Kilavney, Co. Tyrone, was sentenced to twenty years' penal servitude, and Francis Donnelly, Durlass, Co. Tyrone, was found not guilty and released. The house of J. Millar was attacked, and several shots were fired into the bedroom occupied by Millar and his wife. Cassidy was identified as having been one of the attackers. Donnelly denied having taken part in the attack, and stated that three armed men called at his house and took away oil in a can. Cassidy was found guilty of shooting with intent to maim and of attempting to set fire to the house.

DUBLIN CIVILIANS SENTENCED.

Leo Byrne, Portmahon Lodge, Rialto Bridge, Dublin, was sentenced to ten years' penal servitude, and Robert Byrne, of the same address, was found not guilty and released. Byrne was charged with having, with others unknown, "held up" a soldier at Kilmainham and stolen his bicycle. He was identified as the man who shouted "Stop" and at the same time drew a revolver. He admitted having taken the bicycle, and was found guilty on both charges. When the house was searched both the accused were present. The following were found:—Ninety-seven rounds of ammunition, one pair of large wire clippers, seven bomb levers, two bomb lever pins, and three bomb springs. Byrne denied all knowledge of the articles found.

William Troy, Monalow, Co. Dublin, was sentenced to five years' penal servitude. The accused was "held up," and when searched eight rounds of lead pellets and a shotgun cartridge were found. In a field where he was "held up" the following were found:—Three rifles, twenty-two rounds of German small arms ammunition, and a document for "F Coy., Sixth Bn.," signed "Sec. Cdr."

Thomas Sheerin, Seville place, Dublin, was sentenced to five years' penal servitude. When a house was searched sixty-four rounds of .45 revolver ammunition and three bombs were found.

John Falkiner and John Sheehan, the Cottages, Shankill, Co. Dublin, were sentenced to five years' penal servitude. After shots were fired at Bray Barracks, Shanganagh Wood was searched, and two overcoats, two hats, two rifles, and some ammunition were found. Both accused were arrested in the vicinity. Falkiner admitted that one hat was his. He said that he had been sent by two men to the wood to fire at the barracks, and that another man (Sheehan) would meet him there. They both fired on the barracks, and left the rifles, ammunition, coats, and hats behind.

Constable Samuel Thompson, R.I.C., Oulart, Co. Wexford, was sentenced to one year's imprisonment, with hard labour, and ordered to pay £20 to Constable Shannon. A £20 note which was stolen from the box of Constable Shannon was changed by accused in a public-house. The note was identified by Shannon.

SENTENCE ON PRIEST AND CIVILIANS.

Rev. John Loughery, John Manogue, Patrick Ryan, and James O'Neill, Thomastown, Co. Kilkenny, were fined £10, or three months' imprisonment. Accused, who were the committee of the Belfast boycott, assembled together for the purpose of furthering a trade boycott of Belfast, in accordance with instructions from Dail Eireann.

ALLEGED THEFT FROM DROGHEDA HOTEL.

POLICE CONSTABLE ACQUITTED.

Yesterday before a Field General Courtmartial, sitting at Kilmainham, Thomas Frederick Everest, constable of the R.I.C., pleaded not guilty to stealing two watches and a safety razor and six blades from rooms at a hotel in Drogheda on April 18th last.

Evidence in support of the prosecution was heard.

In a statement to the Court, prisoner, who was not professionally represented, denied the charge. He had two years' service and the best of references. It was his belief that if he had not applied for compensation for personal damage to his clothes, etc., on the occasion, he would never have been charged.

The Court found the accused not guilty, and he was discharged.

CORK CIVILIAN PRISONER'S DEATH.

EVIDENCE IN MILITARY INQUIRY.

At Cork Military Barracks yesterday a Military Inquiry was held relative to the death of William Horgan, fireman on the Great Southern and Western Railway, residing at Dillon's Cross, Cork.

A military officer deposed to arresting Horgan at his house on the 28th. He also arrested another civilian in the same neighbourhood, and took them in a lorry towards the Bridewell. While searching the prisoners Horgan suddenly grabbed his wrist and the revolver. A short struggle ensued, and witness fired at Horgan. At the same time the other prisoner ran like a hare down the street, having broken away from his guard, and escaped. When he examined Horgan he was dead.

A second military witness gave corroborative evidence.

The findings will be announced.

DUBLIN AND BRAY RAILWAY SERVICE.

FOUR MEN DEAD.

THREE FARM WORKERS SHOT.

FATE OF AN EX-SOLDIER.

Telegraphing last night our Charleville Correspondent states:—A stir was caused in Charleville this evening when it became known that the bodies of two young men had been found shot dead on the roadside at Coolasmuthane, about three miles north-west of Charleville. When word reached the police barracks military and police set out for the scene, and found the bodies of John O'Sullivan (20) and Patrick J. Sheahan (23) lying on the roadside.

They had been shot through the head, having been first blindfolded. Round the neck of each was a label with the words, "Convicted spy. Beware. I.R.A." Sheahan had been shot at close range, the hair near the temple being singed. The bodies were brought in on a lorry by the military.

Sullivan was kidnapped two weeks ago. Sheahan, while carting to Ballyagram Creamery, was kidnapped on Monday evening near Clonmore. His horse and cart were found in a field. At the barracks Dr. Cremin made a superficial examination of the bodies this evening.

The hands of each of the men were clasped across the breast.

TIPPERARY MAN'S END.

SHOT NEAR HIS HOME.

A telegram from Tipperary yesterday stated:—John Buckley, employed as a farm labourer by Mr. Peter Moloney, County Councillor, Gurthdrum, near Limerick Junction, was taken out of his house by armed men at two o'clock yesterday morning and shot dead.

Buckley, who was aged 20, had been recently married. He lived with his father near Mr. Moloney's house. The body was removed to the Tipperary Military Barracks.

He was blindfolded and taken to a field, where his captors shot him. There were eight bullet wounds in the body. His hands were tied behind his back, and a label attached to his body stated, "I.R.A. Convicted spy."

HOUSE-BURNING MANIA.

MANY MORE RESIDENCES DESTROYED.

At two o'clock on Tuesday twenty armed men entered the residence of Miss B. D. F. Poole, Mayfield House, Bandon, County Cork, ordered the inmates out, and set fire to the house, which was completely destroyed.

Belmont House, the property of Mr. McKeon, Drumena, was recently destroyed. It was unoccupied, but furnished at the time.

Fort Fargus House, the property of Mr. Wm. H. Ball, D.L., of Ballynakally, was also destroyed by over forty armed men, who set it on fire. The owner was absent at the time.

Our Bandon Correspondent telegraphs:—The Allen Institute, the recreation hall of the Young Men's Christian Association, at Bandon, was burned down on Wednesday morning. It is stated that the building was fired about seven o'clock. The military arrived soon after with a fire engine, and "commandeered" a number of men, whom they put pumping water from the river near by. Only the walls of the building remain, except a portion built some years ago, in which the billiard room is situated.

Our Cavan Correspondent states that armed raiders burned down Stradone House, five miles from Cavan. It is stated that besides the costly furniture a large quantity o[illegible] stroyed. ASSAULT BY MASKED MEN.

On the 27th inst. Miss G. Slattery, a chemist's assistant, of Carrick-on-Suir, was "held up" at Ballinderry, County Tipperary, by a party of armed and masked men, who assaulted her and took her bicycle from her. She had been on friendly terms with the police.

POSTMAN ROBBED.

Our Stewartstown Correspondent states:—This afternoon a postman named Nathaniel Patterson, of Stewartstown, was "held up" near Killycolpy cross-roads, on his return journey, by six armed men, who fired a number of shots over his head and relieved him of his post bag. ATTEMPTED MURDER IN CORK.

THREE WOMEN COURT-MARTIALLED.

JUDGMENT RESERVED.

At Cork Military Barracks yesterday, before a Field General Courtmartial, the trial concluded of three young women named Kate Crowley, Madge Cotter, and Lily Cotter, of Carrigtwohill, County Cork, who were charged with the attempted murder of a military officer and a private by causing, it is alleged, the explosion of a land mine under lorries near Glanmire on 23rd inst.

A witness swore that when the explosion occurred he saw a battery which was "running." It was connected by a wire to a mine on the road. The only people that he saw were the three women, hurrying away towards a farmhouse.

To the Court—The women went direct from where the battery was to the farmhouse.

The Prosecutor read a statement by the accused to the effect that they were thinning turnips, and when they heard the explosion they were frightened, and ran towards the farmhouse.

THE DEFENCE.

For the defence a female witness swore to seeing the accused thinning turnips in a field, and after the explosion they came across to her house.

Further evidence was given to show that the accused were in no way connected with the outrage.

The Prosecutor said that soldiers were very much on the alert, and if there were any other persons around except the three women they would have been seen. He agreed with counsel for the defence that the mine was laid by men, but with that gallantry which they associated with those who were fighting in this country at present they probably deputed the dangerous work to girls.

Judgment was reserved.

MILITARY AMBUSHED.

ATTACKS IN THE SOUTH.

OFFICER FATALLY WOUNDED.

TWO CIVILIANS ARRESTED.

According to an official report from General Military Headquarters a party of the King's Regiment was ambushed on Tuesday at Gortnacrena, three miles from Bantry, by a number of armed civilians. After a short encounter the attackers were put to flight. Two of them were captured by the troops, on whose side there were no casualties.

The authorities at Dublin Castle issued the following communiqué last night relating to the same incident:—

A convoy of troops was ambushed about midday on the 28th instant between Drimoleague and Bantry.

The troops returned the fire and captured two prisoners. One rebel is believed to have been wounded.

There were no military casualties.

Our Bantry Correspondent telegraphs:—It is reported here that on Tuesday evening a party of soldiers in lorries was fired on in the Scart-Colmane district. The attackers were concealed. The military replied and searched the district. Two young men named J. Connolly and E. Keyes were taken into custody. They were brought to the barracks here and detained. No casualties are reported from either side.

A CLARE AMBUSH.

MILITARY OFFICER'S DEATH.

General Military Headquarters reports that early on Tuesday morning a party of Oxfordshires and Buckinghams was ambushed at Fortain Cross, Tulla, County Clare. One officer was dangerously wounded, and three soldiers were slightly wounded. The attackers' fire was returned, but with what effect is not known.

Telegraphing yesterday, our Limerick Correspondent says:—The ambush of a military patrol near Tulla early on Tuesday morning has had a fatal result. The patrol consisted of Lieutenant Warren, Oxfordshire and Buckinghamshire Light Infantry, and seven men. At about half-past two in the morning at Fortain Cross, three miles from Tulla, a civilian was met and questioned by the officer. A shot was fired, and Lieutenant Warren was dangerously wounded. An interchange of shots immediately followed. Two soldiers were wounded, but the patrol retained their arms, and the attackers withdrew. It has not been ascertained if they had any casualties.

Lieutenant Warren was removed to the military hospital at Limerick, where he died on Tuesday night at half-past nine o'clock as the result of his wounds. He was a young and very promising officer, an Englishman, and had served in the war, winning the Military Cross, with a Bar.

THE SHOOTING OF SOLDIERS IN CORK.

The following official report of the shooting of soldiers in Cork was issued yesterday:—

On Monday night, when Privates Fred Crowther, Arthur Spooner, and John Evans were returning to the Victoria Barracks, Cork, they were attacked by nine men armed with revolvers, who suddenly jumped over a fence and shouted to Spooner and Evans to put up their hands, at the same time firing revolvers and wounding Spooner. Crowther did not return to barrack, and a large party searching for him found his dead body in the early hours of the following morning in a field a short distance away. There were bullet wounds in the chest, side, and face.

FIERCE ATTACK ON A BARRACK.

POLICE SERGEANT WOUNDED.

Dublin Castle states that on Tuesday, shortly after noon, the police barrack at Borrisoleigh, County Tipperary, was attacked by a large party of armed men, who used bombs, rifle fire, petrol, paraffin oil, and tar, etc. The attackers entered an adjoining house, from the yard of which they endeavoured to set the barrack on [illegible] and calling to the garrison repeatedly to [illegible]nder. The police vigorously defended them[illegible], and saved the barrack. The chapel bell [illegible] shortly after two o'clock and the attackers withdrew, the fight having lasted about two hours. Sergeant Peat was slightly wounded. An empty land mine, a live bomb, apparently of German design, and a large number of empty rifle cartridges were found in the vicinity of the barracks.

DARING AFFAIR AT SLIGO

PRISONERS TAKEN FROM THE JAIL.

Our Sligo Correspondent, writing yesterday, says:—Another sensation was created to-day in Sligo by the news that the Sinn Feiners had succeeded during the night in bringing off a very clever and daring coup by the rescue of three prisoners from Sligo Jail, in spite of the fact that it is situated in the neighbourhood of the No. 1 Constabulary Barrack, and is guarded by soldiers of the Bedfordshire Regiment. It appears that a small band of men was engaged in the affair. By means of duplicate keys they are said to have gained access to the outer yard. How they did so without attracting the attention of the guard is a mystery. Three of then then "held up" the night warder with revolvers, bound and gagged him with strips of bed sheeting, and took his keys. They next opened the cells, and rescued Frank O'Beirne, County Councillor; Michael Duignan, and Charles Gildea. O'Beirne and Gildea are said to have been recently courtmartialled, and were awaiting sentence. The prisoners and their rescuers got away, and a considerable time elapsed before they were missed and the alarm raised. The Crown forces afterwards scoured the country, but without any success.

POLAND'S FOREIGN POLICY.

DESIRE FOR EUROPEAN PEACE

Reuter's Agency learns from an official Polish source in London that the new Polish Foreign Minister, M. Skirmunt, has just expounded his policy in an interview accorded to Warsaw journalists. The Minister declared that the immediate aim of the Government policy was to demonstrate to foreign countries that Poland is, above all, an element of order and peace in Europe. He expressed a desire to see the Eastern frontiers of Poland settled as quickly as possible, although he recognised that, for the moment, certain questions had to be held in suspense.

Regarding Upper Silesia, M. Skirmunt admitted that Poland was not finding quite the success she desired, but she would not cease to demand that the ultimate decision on this question should be based on the Treaty of Versailles, and on the results of the recent plebiscite.

In passing to more general questions, the Minister declared that Poland, more than any other nation, cannot be isolated. He had just come from the West, where, he added, the need of peace was strongly felt, and where there was a distaste for any suggestion of war. Any elements which tended to provoke the renewal of war were certain to be condemned in advance throughout the Western world.

(members of the Regional Advisory Council), on the honours which had recently been conferred on them by His Majesty, briefly reviewed the regional work, which was well up-to-date. With reference to the Government's proposals in the interests of economy, he assured them that, whatever changes might take place under his administration, the interests of the disabled men would not in any way be endangered.

Resolutions were passed urging the Local Government Board to expedite the building of ex-service men's houses in Ulster, and to employ thereon, as far as possible, the labour of ex-service men; urging the Government, in view of the prevailing distress caused by unemployment, to give more sympathetic consideration when assessing dependents' pensions.

In reply to Mr. Boyd (Ulster ex-Service Men's Association), it was stated that the United Services' Fund renders assistance to ex-service men's widows and dependents who are awaiting the Pensions Appeal Tribunal's decision upon a claim to pension and are ineligible for temporary assistance from Ministry funds.

Other matters discussed included the care of children and the supervision of dental treatment of disabled men.

THE BELFAST SHIPYARD HOLIDAYS.

The Belfast shipyards will close for the mid-summer holidays on Friday evening, 8th July, and work will be resumed on the morning of Monday, 18th July.

SHIPYARD-WORKER'S DEATH IN BELFAST.

A SERIES OF ACCIDENTS.

A young apprentice shipwright named Walter Lindsay (19), of 10 Ranley street, Belfast, was killed at Messrs. Harland and Wolff's shipyard yesterday morning. He was working on a vessel, and fell a considerable distance. When picked up he was dead. The body was taken to the Royal Victoria Hospital.

Later in the day Samuel Garrett (37), Knock Cottage, a joiner in the Island, and Samuel Larne (27), of Leopold street, a stager in the same firm, were also admitted to the Royal Victoria Hospital, suffering from injuries received while at work.

A wall fell at Bridge End, Belfast, yesterday morning during the demolition of a building, and William Craig, fifty years of age, a lodger in the Salvation Army Hotel, was caught between the débris and had several ribs broken. He was removed to the Royal Victoria Hospital for treatment.

As the result of an accident at Ligoniel quarries, Hugh Fox, of Ballyutoag, sustained a fractured leg, lacerated hands, fractured ribs, and severe scalp injuries, besides other injuries. He was taken in the ambulance to the Royal Victoria Hospital. It is stated that portion of the quarry face fell on him.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.

CURIOSITY.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE IRISH TIMES.

SIR,—It seems rather a pity that, in his disquisition on "Curiosity" under the heading "Thoughts and Theories," published in your issue of the 25th inst., "C.H.B." did not give us the legend of Pandora. As it may have some inspiration for Irishmen just now, perhaps you will think it worth publishing. Pandora, the first woman, was created out of clay by Hephaistos, at the request of Zeus, to punish Prometheus for stealing fire from heaven and thus making earth habitable. Zeus determined to convert this comfort into perpetual unhappiness, and thought of the charms of female beauty as the means of attaining his ends. Into the newly created lovely figure he therefore breathed life. Mental and bodily charms were showered upon her by each of the gods, and she was sent to earth in charge of Hermes, who gave her to Epimetheus, the brother of Prometheus, who, though he had been warned to accept no presents from the Olympian deities, unwisely received her. In the house of Epimetheus was a jealously locked casket in which all the ills of the universe had been imprisoned. Pandora, who possessed more than her share of every womanly charm, possessed also the usual feminine failings, and especially that of curiosity. She opened this casket, and the ills, so carefully guarded, immediately escaped. She, in her confusion, hurriedly closed the casket; but the earth was already overspread with numberless forms of misery and evil. Beneath them all had lain hope—the only blessing in the casket. Pandora was just quick enough to prevent the escape of this, and so to treasure up some feeble antidote for man to counteract the ills which she had wrought upon him.

Might I say also, for the information of some who, like myself, were infected with "curiosity," that, in a half-crown English dictionary, I have discovered that a "hanaper" was a wicker basket used by the Kings of England for holding their money as they journeyed from place to place; a treasury, a hamper (old French, hanap, a drinking cup, the hanaper being originally used for carrying the cups and other valuables); a wicker receptacle for documents or valuables; an office of the English Court of Chancery, so named because certain of its papers were originally kept in a hanaper?—Yours, etc., "X."

THE IRISH CATTLE TRADE.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE IRISH TIMES.

SIR,—The time seems opportune for a reconsideration of the conditions under which shipment of Irish store cattle to England and Scotland is now permitted. Everyone concerned in the trade is well aware that the quarantine of fourteen days makes the present concessions worthless. It should not be beyond the capacity of the powers that be (if it cannot be taken off altogether) to devise such a system of examination, by veterinary surgeons, of store cattle on the land before shipment as would make it as certain as possible that no trace of foot-and-mouth disease exists. The present system simply means the deterioration of cattle by at least £10 to £15 per head, and a complete deadlock in Ireland's most important asset.

With a spirit of mutual good-will, understanding, and forbearance this and our other troubles could be easily adjusted, and Ireland could with confidence look to the dawn of brighter days.—Yours, etc.,

JOHN T. MILLER.

CATTLE THIEVING.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE IRISH TIMES.

SIR,—I think it right that public attention should be drawn to the extensive system of cattle thieving which is going on in the country at present. My herd attended Kildare Fair yesterday to watch whether some cattle stolen from my lands were offered for sale. He actually found other seven herds attending that fair bent on the same errand!

There appears to be an organised gang working, and their method is to pay a preliminary visit to farms during the day-time for scouting purposes, and then to return later during the small hours of the morning and drive off the cattle fancied. It is hardly necessary to state that they do not choose the worst. Farmers are in for a bad time this year, and can ill afford these depredations.—Yours, etc.,

THE DUBLIN DRAPERY DISPUTE.

NO AGREEMENT REACHED.

Representatives of the employers and employés of the Dublin drapery trade failed, after six hours' conference yesterday at the Ministry of Labour, to adjust the dispute existing at Messrs. Switzer's. It is possible that a second conference will be held to-day. If this meeting does not come about the threatened lock-out will in all probability be launched from to-night.

PORT AND DOCKS BOARD CLERKSHIPS.

DEAN WALSH MEMORIAL.

CEREMONY AT CHRIST CHURCH CATHEDRAL.

The Archbishop of Dublin unveiled a tablet at the Evening Service in Christ Church Cathedral yesterday in memory of the late Very Rev. J. H. Walsh, D.D., Dean, and of Mrs. Walsh. The Service was conducted by the Precentor, Canon Hogan, and the Rev. W. Dungan, Clerical Vicar. The lessons were read by the Archdeacon and the Dean.

In addition to the Archbishop, the following clergy were present:—The Very Rev. H. Vere White (Dean), the Ven. T. S. Lindsay, B.D. (Archdeacon); Canons Stoney (Treasurer), Hogan (Precentor), Kennedy (Chancellor), Jennings, Pim, Mervyn, Thomson, Somerville, and Phair; the Rev. W. R. Browne and the Rev. W. W. Dungan (Clerical Vicars), the Rev. H. Taylor and the Rev. R. C. Oulton (Honorary Clerical Vicars), the Rev. Harvey Stewart, the Rev. H. Dobbs, the Rev. H. Harris, and Dr. Gater.

After the anthem, "If we believe that Jesus died and rose again" (Sir John Goss), the Archbishop, preceded by the choir and clergy, and followed by the congregation, went to the north ambulatory and unveiled the tablet. Special prayers followed and the hymn "Rock of Ages" was sung, after which Evensong was concluded in the usual form. There was no sermon.

The tablet, which is placed in the north ambulatory near the memorial to Dean Greene, the predecessor to Dean Walsh, takes the form of a tablet of "Latten" metal, three feet in height and two feet broad. On it is engraved a decorative bordering, embodying fleurs-de-lis, treated in a conventional manner. The corners are decorative, the seal of Christ Church Cathedral being treated, together with the bordering, in bold relief.

The panel containing the inscription is treated in an antique lettering, and is surmounted by a "Latten" cross in delicate outline. Above the tablet the armorial bearings of the late Dean Walsh are carved in stone, making an effective setting for the tablet.

The work was designed and executed throughout by Mr. Charles G. Sawier, Messrs. W. Sawier, craftsmen, 2 Bedford row, Dublin.

The inscription on the tablet is as follows:—"In memory of the Very Rev. James Hornidge Walsh, D.D. Ordained in the year 1860 for the Diocese of Dublin. Curate and Rector of St. Stephen's for 31 years. Canon of this Cathedral, 1893. Chancellor, 1905. Dean from 1908 to 1918. Born April 13th, 1837. Died September 4th, 1919."

"Also in memory of his wife, Jane Mary, daughter of the Hon. Francis Alexander Fitzgerald, Baron of the Exchequer. Born March 25th, 1844. Died November 3rd, 1919."

"This tablet was erected by their daughter."

STORE CATTLE INQUIRY.

The Duke of Westminster was one of the witnesses in favour of the removal of the embargo who appeared before the Royal Commission on Store Cattle yesterday. As a breeder of pedigree cattle, he said that he expected that Canada would buy more pedigree stock from this country if she was allowed to increase her trade in cattle. It would, of course, mean prosperity to Canada, and would also be beneficial to the mother country. He believed that the effect of raising the embargo would be to increase the demand in Canada for pedigree stock. The importation of Canadian stores would not have a deleterious effect on home-bred pedigree animals, and he saw no reason why there should be any more stringent regulations against Canadian cattle than Irish. After all, Canada was free from foot-and-mouth disease, and the same could not be said for Ireland.

Mr. C. W. Bowerman, M.P., also gave evidence in favour of the removal of the embargo, and argued that the price of meat had not fallen to the same extent as other articles. A joint of meat which cost fourteen to fifteen shillings to-day cost about three or four shillings before the war. Such a price was prohibitive to the very poorest of the people. The present price of meat was a scandal.

Mr. W. H. Key, Chairman of the Incorporated Wholesale Meat Traders' Association, stated that the importation of Canadian stores would cheapen meat by one penny per pound, but, in answer to Mr. Douglas Hogg, said that he had no data upon which he formed that opinion except his fifty years' experience in the trade.

The Commission adjourned until to-morrow.

THE AMERICAN MARKETS.

STOCKS CLOSED FIRM.

(REUTER'S TELEGRAMS.)

NEW YORK, WEDNESDAY.

Stocks at the opening were firm, and there was a broad demand, with gains of 1 to 5 points, on a belief that urgent liquidation was over. Better foreign and domestic economic conditions infused a more cheerful sentiment, and Steels and Equipments were absorbed on reports that the Railroads will soon be buying large supplies. Mexican Petroleum was feverish, however, on conflicting reports regarding the Oil Tax. The market closed firm.

BOXING.

THE BIG FIGHT FOR THE WORLD'S CHAMPIONSHIP.

DEMPSEY v. CARPENTIER.

Now that we are practically on the eve of the contest for the heavy-weight championship of the world, the excitement grows intense, and it is, perhaps, no exaggeration to say that next Saturday's fight has aroused more interest the world over than any previous fistic encounter, not even excepting that between Jack Johnson and Tommy Burns at Sydney thirteen years ago. By the way, it is stated that Johnson, as a reward for his exemplary record while under sentence, may be given leave of absence from prison in order to be present at Saturday's fight for the title which he once held himself.

This is a record-breaking age, and all previous "bests" look like going by the board on this occasion. To begin with, the mammoth purse of 600,000 dollars easily puts in the shade any prize ever put up for competition between either men or horses, and yet the promoter, after paying away such a vast sum, not to mention the huge outlay incurred in the erection of the arena in Jersey City, hopes to make a profit variously estimated at from £50,000 to £75,000.

No matter what the result, let it be a victory, a defeat or a draw, Dempsey receives 300,000 dollars (about £81,000), and Carpentier's portion is 200,000 dollars (about £54,000). Thus each man before he enters the ring knows exactly what his share of the prize, apart from the picture rights, is to be, and this, no doubt, may be sound business from the point of view of the principals, but some of us are old-fashioned enough to prefer the old order of things—viz., that the winner should take the lion's share of the spoils; otherwise a match partakes to some extent of the nature of an exhibition. However, this undoubtedly will not be the case in the forthcoming fight, for both Dempsey and Carpentier are very much alive to the issue at stake, and each is certain to give of his best. It should indeed be a magnificent battle for supremacy between the two greatest boxers of the day, and the issue will be eagerly awaited. In what betting which has taken place, Dempsey is a warm favourite, but, though he will be at a disadvantage of nearly a stone and a half in weight, the Frenchman has thousands of adherents who believe that the handicap in the matter of avoirdupois will be neutralised by his superior generalship and ring-craft.

The men will take the ring on Saturday at 3.30 p.m. (New York time), or 8.30 p.m. (British summer time), and the result should reach here an hour and a half or two hours later. It is a "no decision" contest of twelve rounds, and only in the event of a knock-out or a foul can the referee give a decision. Both Dempsey and Carpentier have given every satisfaction to their respective trainers in their preparation, and each is in the pink of condition.

The ages and measurements of the men are as follow:—

	Dempsey.	Carpentier.
Age	26	27
Weight	13st. 11lb.	12st. 4lb.

INJUNCTION MOTION DISMISSED.

A Jersey City telegram, dated Wednesday, states:—The application by Mr. Watson, of the International Reform Bureau, to obtain an injunction to stop of Carpentier-Dempsey fight has resulted in the Court declining to entertain Mr. Watson's motion. The magistrate replied that he could issue no order against a probable violation of the law, but the reformers could bring charges after the fight if they believed a crime had been committed.

CLERGYMAN'S MOVE TO PREVENT CONTEST.

Reuter's Correspondent in Jersey City telegraphed last night:—The futility of the efforts made yesterday to secure an injunction against the holding of the Carpentier-Dempsey meeting led to a change of tactics on the part of the reformers to-day, when the Rev. Harry Wyatt, representing the local Clergymen's Club, laid a complaint before the County Prosecutor, appealing to him to have indictments issued by the Grand Jury.

The letter accompanying the complaint charged the principal and promoters of the contest with having conspired to pervert the boxing or sparring law. Counsel for the clergymen stated that witnesses were prepared to testify in any action which the County Prosecutor might take.

In reply, the County Prosecutor stated that, while he did not believe that the promoters of the fight intended to violate the law, it was his duty to lay the matter before the Grand Jury, and the complainants were invited to appear, with their affidavits and witnesses, to-morrow, when a fair hearing was promised them, it being added that, in the event of the indictments being found, the two boxers and the promoters of the match would be arrested and the fight prevented.

ATHLETICS AND CYCLING.

HIGH SCHOOL (DUBLIN) SPORTS.

The annual sports of the High School, Dublin, were held yesterday at Lansdowne road. The conditions must have been somewhat trying on the youthful competitors, the heat being intense, and the track and outfield baked hard, but these drawbacks seemed not in the least to hamper the lads, who entered into the contests with all that keenness and true sporting rivalry that one always associates with the annual gatherings of our educational establishments. It was a lengthy programme, but the events were run off well up to schedule, the meeting being admirably managed in that respect. The competition was, all round, exceptionally keen, and, with the fine band (fifes and drums) of the R.H.M.S. discoursing a pleasing selection, the large company spent a most enjoyable afternoon at the headquarters of the I.R.F.U. Chief interest centred in the struggle for the Challenge Cup and Cross (presented by Mr. E. R. Moore), but E. M. Wright had an easy victory, with an aggregate of 18 points, winning the 100 yards off scratch, the high jump, and the 220 yards, and getting second in the 440 yards to W. S. Cunningham, who, in this event, reversed the placings in the sprint and 220 yards with Wright, although conceding the latter five yards. W. H. Jolley was second for the Cup with 13 points, and, with 11 points, W. S. Cunningham finished third. The prizes were distributed by Mrs. W. E. Thrift. Details:—

NATIONAL ROSE SHOW.

IRISH SUCCESSES.

The Summer Show of the National Rose Society, held yesterday at the Royal Botanic Gardens, Regent's Park, London, consisted, in the opinion of the judges, of one of the finest displays of the popular blossom ever shown. Ireland played a prominent part, for the two gold medals were won by Irish growers. One was secured for Messrs. Alex. Dickson and Sons by "Betty Uprichard." It is a bloom of fine shape and wonderful colouring. Pale crimson and orange tints predominate, and make it one of the prettiest roses yet produced. Another gold medal was awarded for "Muriel Wilson," produced by an Irish amateur, Dr. Campbell Hall, but grown and exhibited by Mr. George Prince. It is a white rose of large size, and beautiful shape. The Nurserymen's Challenge Trophy went to Messrs. A. Dickson and Sons for seventy-two different blooms. There was another new rose from Ireland in this group—"Defiance," a beautiful deep red velvet.

CRICKET.

DUBLIN UNIVERSITY v. ROYAL HIBERNIANS.

Dublin University easily defeated Royal Hibernians (who batted two short) in the College Park yesterday. The visitors, batting first on a good wicket, made only a poor show against the bowling of J. R. Wills, who, keeping a splendid length, took five wickets for 18 runs. Trinity did not begin their reply too well. They lost two wickets for seven runs. However, Heaslip played the attack with confidence from the start, and at the close was 64, not out. He hit nine boundaries. His stand completely changed the complexion of affairs, and at the close Trinity were 74 ahead, with three wickets to fall. Score:—

PHŒNIX v. ROYAL COLLEGE OF SCIENCE.

Phœnix suffered their first defeat of the season yesterday when, in the Park, College of Science beat them by 66 runs. The College had first knock, and in two and a half hours totalled 187. The principal run-getters were Burrows, Spence, and Sheppard. The first-named, who scored 41 in brisk style, was instrumental, in partnership with Little, in adding 56 for the second wicket, while Spence and Sheppard put on 57 for the seventh wicket. Spence batted finely for 40, hitting six 4's, while Sheppard, in collecting 35, had five boundaries. Allen, with 4 wickets for 65 runs, was the most successful of the home bowlers. Phœnix, who were weakly represented, never looked like getting the runs, and in one and a half hours were dismissed for 121, Le Peton hitting out freely for 37. The College fielding was particularly keen, and Sheppard brought about the dismissal of a couple of Phœnix batsmen by brilliant catches, while, with 3 wickets for 13, he had the best analysis. LEINSTER SCHOOLS XI. v. CLONGOWES VACATION XI.

A splendid afternoon's cricket at Rathmines yesterday gave the Leinster Schools the better of a drawn game. They made two changes from the side originally picked to play Ulster Schools, Ganly (St. Columba's) and Dodds (High School) being unable to play, their places being taken by Swanton (King's Hospital) and Seymour (Masonic). Leinster, batting first, scored 227 for six wickets in two hours and twenty minutes. The feature of the innings was a splendid stand by the two King's Hospital boys, Carey (60) and Swanton (76), who scored 134 for the second wicket. Both played beautiful cricket, Carey giving no chance and hitting seven 4's, while Swanton had nine boundaries, but gave a couple of chances. Nunns, the Earlsfort House captain, also batted in excellent form, and had six 4's in his 50, getting most of his runs by fine pull strokes. The visitors started badly, losing three wickets for 18, but Lever (38) and G. N. Kelly added over 90 for the fourth wicket, and when stumps were drawn Kelly had 65, not out, to his credit, including one 6 and nine 4's. He drove with great power, his off strokes being well timed. Rea, who kept an excellent length, took four wickets for 31 and Guise-Brown two for 34. Score:—

WARWICKSHIRE v. AUSTRALIANS.

For this match at Edgbaston yesterday the Australians left out Gregory, MacDonald, Collins, and Macartney. Warwickshire had a fairly strong side, including Nelson, Partridge, and Waddy for Stephens, Baynton, and Howell. The weather was gloriously fine, and in the afternoon the attendance reached 12,000. Batting first, Warwickshire scored 262 in three hours and three-quarters—a decidedly meritorious performance, even allowing for the fact that the Australian bowling was below its customary strength. Calthorpe was caught at point, with only 19 on the board, but Bates and Charlesworth, scoring at a good pace, brought up the 50 in half an hour. Bates left at 69, and Charlesworth, who hit half a dozen 4's, eight runs later. Then followed a useful partnership between Quaife and Waddy, which yielded 73 for the fourth wicket. Quaife was out immediately before lunch, when the total stood at 150 for four wickets. Waddy reached his half-century as the result of sixty-five minutes' attractive batting. He hit four 4's, two 3's, and ten 2's. Scorer and Santall, both comparatively new to first-class cricket, withstood the attack for fifty minutes, and added 63 for the seventh wicket. Santall made most of his runs by lusty drives, reaching the boundary on seven occasions. Of the remaining batsmen, Partridge was the only one to give trouble. He hit with a good deal of vigour, and eventually skied one, to be caught in the long field. The Australians had just over ninety minutes' batting, and lost Andrews at 33. They were afterwards favoured by mistakes in the field, Bardsley being twice let off in the twenties. He and Pellew added 57 in half an hour for the second wicket. The former batted seventy minutes, and hit ten 4's. At the close, the Australians, with six wickets to go, were 114 behind. Score:—

GENTLEMEN v. PLAYERS.

GOOD SCORING BY AMATEURS.

Additional interest attached to the Oval fixture between the amateurs and professionals by reason of its being regarded as a trial for the "Test," though it was unfortunate it should immediately precede Saturday's game at Headingley. Stumps, however, are to be drawn at half-past four to-morrow, to enable the players engaged to travel North. Strong sides were chosen by England's selection trio, but all could not accept, and the 'Varsity contingent was absent from the Gentlemen's eleven, Douglas also sending back word. There were half a dozen alterations from the side actually published—Jeacocke, Morrison, the ex-Cambridge captain; Titchmarsh, the Herts prolific run-getter; Captain Jameson, of Hampshire, and the Middlesex cricketers, Bruce and Kidd, all being introduced. On the Players' side, of which Hobbs was skipper, Sandham was substituted for Ernest Tyldesley. Yesterday was gloriously fine, and from the start there was a big attendance, which eventually increased to over 15,000.

Winning the toss, Tennyson, naturally, had no hesitation in taking first innings. Hobbs led off the attack prompt at noon, with Durston and Hitch, Jeacocke and Morrison being initial pair batsmen. They stayed together half an hour, when, with 34 on the board, the Surreyite, who should apparently have been captured when 13 by Hardinge at first slip, played late at a ball from the Middlesex bowler, who sent the off peg spinning. Bruce made some good strokes, and the total was carried to 63 when Morrison fell to a smart catch at the wicket off Hitch, who has taken the ball at the pavilion end. With Titchmarsh in, the Oxonian enjoyed some luck, Hallows fielding at deep square for getting the ball into his hands, but letting it drop. The Herts amateur speedily got to work, and did nearly all the scoring for a time. He claimed 51 in rather over 40 minutes, having then hit eight 4's, and at the luncheon adjournment 142 stood on the board as the result of an hour-and-three-quarters batting, the third wicket having as yet produced 79 in the space of 60 minutes. A separation was soon effected on resuming, as, with 9 added, Parkin, who shared the attack with Hitch, dismissed the Herts amateur for a fine all-round 56, made in as many minutes, with the aid of ten 4's and three 3's. Crawford batted with confidence and the fourth wicket was responsible for 63 in the next 40 minutes. He registered three 4's in an over from Freeman and claimed eight boundaries.

Tennyson, who had a hearty reception, started none too happily, but improved, making some fine off-strokes and scoring well in the direction of leg. Bruce, with three 4's off an over from Hearne—called on for the first time at 249—reached three figures in two hours 50 minutes, but the last boundary, a snick, was decidedly lucky. Before the tea interval the pair had raised the score to 290 for 4, and the fifth wicket did not fall until 330 stood on the board, when the captain was caught at slip for 49 of the 111 resulting from his association extending over 80 minutes. Bruce was also claimed as victim by Parkin, who three later made the old Oxonian leg before for 127. His contribution varied greatly in merit, at times being of the best, at others rather patchy. He was at the wicket three hours and twenty-five minutes, and his chief strokes were sixteen 4's and half-a-dozen 3's. Thirty were added by the Middlesex amateurs Kidd and Haig in the next half-hour, the former then being captured at the wicket, and Fender gave little trouble. Jameson was smartly stumped, and Haig also falling to the vigilance of Brown, who, with three catches and a stump, substantiated his claims to Test Match honours. The venture closed shortly after six o'clock for the heavy score of 404, which had been compiled in rather less than five hours. Parkin secured the best analysis, Hitch also bowling well. In the last few minutes the Players registered seven without loss. Score:—

LANCASHIRE v. WORCESTERSHIRE.

There was nothing very thrilling about the play in the Lancashire and Worcestershire match at Old Trafford yesterday; but, although robbed of their most dependable batsmen—E. Tyldesley and Hallows—the home county finished the day in a strong position. With first use of a splendid wicket Worcestershire ought certainly to have put together a bigger total than 162 against ordinary bowling; but then the batsmen, with one or two exceptions, showed little enterprise. The only two decent partnerships were for the second wicket, in which Bowley (38) and H. L. Higgins (30) were concerned, which realised 54, and the fifth wicket, for which M. F. Jewell (36) and Tarbox (24) collected 62. Richard Tyldesley was the most successful bowler, with three wickets for eight runs each. With two hours left for play, Lancashire made a disastrous start, losing Ellis with only three scored, but enterprising cricket by J. R. Barnes (76 not out) and Watson (70) resulted in 143 runs being put on for the second wicket. Watson's 70 was obtained in 95 minutes. Score:—

Worcestershire	162
Lancashire (for two wickets)	181

YORKSHIRE v. GLOUCESTERSHIRE.

Fortunate in winning the toss at Bradford yesterday, in the return match with Gloucestershire, Yorkshire had first innings under ideal batting conditions. The result was that, though they lost Sutcliffe's wicket in the first over, they put on 125 for three wickets before lunch, and wound up with a total of 306, after four and a half hours' batting. The two outstanding features of the innings were the contributions of Holmes and Oldroyd. Holmes was in brilliant driving form. After getting three fours to leg, he scored 10 more fours by hits in front of the wicket, and claimed 70 of the first 97 runs in 75 minutes. Oldroyd's innings of 127 not out had two strongly contrasting periods. He was so deliberate that two hours and 20 minutes were occupied in reaching his first 50, but he scored so freely afterwards as to make the next 50 in just over an hour, this being his third three-figure innings of the season. His 127 is his highest score, and it included 17 fours. Rhodes drove well, and had 6 fours in his 30. Gloucestershire's fielding was admirable. They had three-quarters of an hour's batting, and lost two wickets at 14, after which Dipper and Smith played out time. Score:—

Yorkshire	306
Gloucestershire (for two wickets)	31

OXFORD UNIVERSITY v. MR. LEVESON-GOWER'S XI.

Oxford gained a great advantage on the two opening days of this match at Eastbourne, and yesterday had no difficulty in winning out. Overnight the 'Varsity had scored 178 for three wickets in their second innings. Hedges carried his overnight total of 97 to 123 before being taken in slips. He batted two and a quarter hours, and hit sixteen 4's, but the innings was extremely lucky, as he was missed four times in the first 50. Price declared the Oxford innings at 241 for six wickets, and left Gower's side 557 to get to win. In an hour before lunch the scratch side lost four wickets for 52, three wickets having fallen for five runs. Naumann and Smith added 47 for the fifth wicket; but Price bowled admirably, and dismissed three batsmen for seven runs. The innings closed for 117, leaving Oxford easy winners. Score:—

Oxford University	*644 (8 wkts.)	*241 (6 wkts.)

GLAMORGAN v. NORTHANTS.

At Cardiff yesterday the visitors had much the best of the day's cricket, scoring 246, and then getting eight of the Glamorgan wickets for 65. Woolley (63) and Haywood (96) were the principal scorers for Northants, the remainder batting feebly. Thomas and Woolley bowled finely for Northants, the former taking three wickets for 8 and Woolley five for 27. Score:—

Northants	246
Glamorgan	65 (8 wkts.)

HANTS v. ESSEX.

Batting first on a splendid wicket, Hants failed unaccountably against Essex in the first match of the Bournemouth cricket festival. With the conditions all in favour of run-getting, the start was sensational, three wickets falling before a run had been scored. Mead alone saved Hants from complete disaster. Half the side were out in half-an-hour for only 17, Isherwood and McIntyre being dismissed with successive balls by Douglas, whose figures at this stage were four wickets for two runs. At lunch, seven wickets were down for only 53 runs. Fifteen minutes after lunch sufficed to finish off Hants' innings, Mead being last out for 45. That there was nothing the matter with the wicket was shown when Essex batted, for after losing Gillingham with only two runs scored, Freeman and Russell scored freely, adding exactly 200 for the second wicket. Russell was first out for 87, which included eight 4's. Freeman left at 262, having scored 148 in two hours and fifty minutes. Score:—

Hants	71
Essex	302 (6 wkts.)

KENT v. NOTTS.

On the private Banks ground at Catford Bridge yesterday Kent gave a poor batting display on a good wicket. Even Woolley, who made 52, was not seen at his best. He was in for seventy-five minutes, and hit seven 4's. Kent's innings lasted two hours and thirty-five minutes. Notts did not make too good a start against the home total of 167, but at the close were in a strong position, being two runs behind with six wickets in hand. Score:—

Kent	167
Notts	165 (4 wkts.)

SUSSEX v. LEICESTERSHIRE.

On a very fast pitch at Horsham yesterday, Leicestershire were soon in difficulties, and when six wickets had fallen for 107 it looked as if the score would be very moderate. Fortunately Berridge effected a much-needed stand of 47, the total mounting to 189. Coe contributed a useful 33. Earlier in the innings Middleton (33) and King (30) also batted creditably. Bowley, the last of the five bowlers, had the best figures—4 for 20. Sussex made a good start, Jupp contributing 64 and Bowley 57 to the total of 196. Score:—

Leicestershire	189
Sussex	196 (5 wkts.)

SCULLY DIVORCE SUIT.

HUSBAND'S EVIDENCE.

Mr. Scully went into the witness box yesterday when Sir Henry Duke and a special jury for the fifth day continued the hearing of the suit of Mrs. Isabel Burwell Scully, of Colford Mansions, Cadogan square, London, S.W., for divorce from Mr. Thomas Augustus Scully, of Porchester terrace, on the ground of cruelty and misconduct. Mr. Scully denies the charge, and says that if there was misconduct his wife condoned it. Mrs. Scully denies this.

Mr. Scully said that before his marriage he liked his father-in-law fairly well. Mr. Dunlop made a request for a marriage settlement, but there was none. After the honeymoon Mr. Dunlop wanted to borrow £50. This was at the Hyde Park Hotel. The witness did not lend the £50. Mr. Dunlop wanted to borrow money on two other occasions between then and May, 1908. In March, 1908, Mr. Dunlop wrote about money, and his letter was in the safe with others of his in a bundle when witness went to America in 1920. There was nothing in the safe when he came back. His father-in-law asked for £100 that time. The witness did not lend it. The third occasion was practically a repetition of the second. Mr. Dunlop wrote pressing for £100, but that letter also disappeared from the safe. Just after witness had moved into Porchester terrace Mr. Dunlop wrote asking for £500. The letter was in the safe with the rest of the letters. The witness did not lend the money.

The witness told his wife that her father's character and his were rather like water and oil, and would not mix. It was untrue that he "fined" his wife £30 because her father was at Salcombe with her. He did not deduct any money at all. It was inaccurate to say that he had an income of £20,000. He had only about £11,000.

He and his wife would sometimes "rag." They would chase each other round the room. She would chase him, and sometimes she would put him out. There was no shadow of truth in his wife's statement that he locked her in a cupboard for two successive nights, or that he locked her in on the afternoon of the second day.

During Mr. Scully's evidence the judge remarked at one point—Not a word of this was put to the petitioner. The President asked Mr. Scully if he instructed his solicitors on the facts. He said that he believed he did.

Mr. Scully denied his wife's account of the cinders incident, and said that he had never done more than sprinkle his wife's face, and sponge her face and chest when she was under the influence of veronal and hysteria. She would laugh a laugh which was quite distressing to hear.

The proceedings were adjourned.

Nerve Power Quite Gone

Helpless for Two Years Despite Treatment. Then Made Well and Active by Dr. Cassell's Tablets.

Mr. H. Duthie, 39, Queen-street, West Hartlepool, says:—

"I was sleepless for two years, and Dr. Cassell's Tablets have cured me completely. That is the plain, straightforward truth, and I think it is marvellous. One morning while dressing, the power went out of my legs quite suddenly and I collapsed on the floor. I was helpless, and so I remained for two years. The pain I endured at times was awful. I couldn't sleep for it. So complete was my breakdown that I had to be lifted in and out of bed; I couldn't even turn over. Sometimes I was taken out in a bath chair, and I had to be carried into that. I didn't eat well at this time, and food often caused pain at my chest, but it was the terrible pain in my legs and the absolute helplessness that troubled me. The opinion was that I could never walk again, and even my life was despaired of.

Mr H Duthie.

"Then at last I tried Dr. Cassell's Tablets. Very soon I felt they were doing me good; in a few weeks I was able to get up. Then I went about on crutches, but only for three weeks; by the end of that time I was cured and could go about as freely and as easily as anybody."

DUBLIN AND DISTRICT.

DUBLIN GUARDIANS' FINANCES.—At the weekly meeting of the Dublin Guardians yesterday, Mr. Foley, Chairman, presiding, the Clerk announced that the sum of £1,800 had been received from the Rathdown Union, and that the bank balance now amounted to £9,199. Mrs. Honoria O'Malley was elected temporary trained nurse.

"BIRDS AND THE LAW OF TERRITORY."—A meeting of the Irish Geographical Association will be held this afternoon in the Royal College of Science at 8.15 o'clock, when Mr. C. B. Moffat, M.R.I.A., will deliver a lecture on "Birds and the Law of Territory." Admission, which is free, may be obtained through members, or by application to the Royal College of Science, Upper Merrion street, Dublin.

FATAL DUBLIN MOTOR ACCIDENT.—A military inquiry was held yesterday into the circumstances of the death of George Grimes, aged 26, of Lower Buckingham street, Dublin, who died on Tuesday in the Mater Misericordiae Hospital from injuries received in an accident on Sunday. It appears that he was riding a motor cycle from Swords to the city, with his wife in the side-car and his daughter sitting behind. The cycle collided with a taxi-cab, and he was brought to hospital in an unconscious condition.

SUMMER BALLROOM, KINGSTOWN.—Mr. and Mrs. Leggett Byrne have arranged to re-open the dances at the Town Hall, Kingstown, on Saturday next. These dances, which were started by Mr. and Mrs. Leggett Byrne some years ago, have been most popular. They are a big attraction to the township during the summer months. The hall will accommodate 150 couples; the floor is in excellent order; and the ventilation everything to be desired. The Town Hall is not half a minute's walk from the railway station. Visitors may take the 8.45 train and return by the 2.35 train to Dublin. Mr. W. A. Meagher's band has been engaged.

FRUIT PROSPECTS AND JAM PRICES.

The thunderstorms which visited various parts of Great Britain during last week-end were particularly welcomed by fruit-growers. Messrs. [illegible] and Sons, jam manufacturers, of Histon, Cambridgeshire, say that, prior to the [illegible] on Sunday, it was feared that the crops of strawberries and raspberries would have been seventy-five per cent. under the average. Even now crops will be poor, but the other factors which affect jam prices are easier, and it is expected that the firm's products will be from thirty to forty per cent. cheaper than last year. Messrs. Chivers are reserving their whole harvest for preserving purposes.

IRISH STOCK EXCHANGES.

DUBLIN.

CONSOLS, RAILS, TEXTILES, AND DUNLOPS STRONGER.

The prevailing strength of prices the previous day was continued yesterday, but the changes were mixed in some cases in spite of the settlement of the long-drawn-out coal strike and the efforts towards a settlement of other disturbing elements. The Funds varied. Consols and Irish Lands were good, but War Loan issues were lower where quoted. Banks eased, and the same comment applies to Breweries and Distilleries, Steam and Canal securities. Marconi Wireless Ord. established a fresh rise. Home Rails turned active and strong, with nearly all movements favourable. Trams were offered, but did not quote. Dunlop Rubber Ord. more than maintained overnight strength. Parent Tyres were mostly on sale. Textiles were all better, including Cotton Ord. Tobacco shares were better, but Oils, though firm, failed to change hands.

The Funds were irregular. Consols rose another ⅛ to 47, and Irish Land 3 p.c. 1/16 to 52 1/16, but War Loan 5 p.c. fell ¼ to 88¼, by Dead ¼ to 88¾, and ditto 4 p.c. 1/16 to 96¾.

Banks were a little lower. National fell ¼ to 16¼, and Hibernians 1/16 to 5 1/16; while Munster and Leinsters repeated 5 1/16.

Breweries and Distilleries also eased. Guinness Ord. fell ½ to 39, and John Power and Son Pref. 1s. to 20s.

In Steam, Dundalks weakened to 5, or par, against 5 1/16 last price, and about 5¼ the middle closing level subsequently. Grand Canal closed 6s. lower at 45s. 50s.

Marconi Ord. rose 1s. to 46s.

There was a good deal of strength about prices of Home Rails generally. Great Northern rose 1¼ to 57¼; Great Southern 1 to 45, while the Pref. fell 1 to 49; Midland Great Western Ord. closed ¼ higher at 18¼ 19, while the 4 per cent. Pref. rose 4 to 35.

Trams, Tyres, Gas, Bakery, Drapery, and Miscellaneous securities were neglected.

Manufacturing shares were better on balance. Coats rose 9d. to 48s. 3d., but the "B" Pref. fell 6d. to 19s. 6d. Cottons rallied 9d. to 33s., and Spinners were bid up a couple of shillings to about 37s. 6d. without quoting. Bleachers were wanted; Vickers were 6d. better at 13s. 9d.; Lever Bros. 7 per cent. Pref. repeated 15s. 6d.; and Goulding Ord. fell ¼ to 5¾.

As regards Trading, etc., Brooks Thomas fell 3d. to 20s. 9d., while Dockrell Pref. repeated 12s. 6d., and Thom Pref. 44s.

Other business done included Dunlop Rubber Ord. at 11s. 7½d.-11s. 9d., a rise of 1s.; and Imperial Tobacco improved 7½d. to 48s. 9d.

BELFAST.

The settlement of the coal strike caused a more cheerful feeling, and a disposition to do business was manifest, this being especially noticeable in speculative securities. Shells were active around 5⅜, closing at £5 15s. 3d. Dunlops were dealt in at 11s. 6d. to 11s. 7½d., a rise of 3d. Mexican Eagles 6⅞; War Loan (inscribed), 88⅛ to 88¼, a rise of ¼. Registered Stock, 88⅜; London Joint City and Midland Bank, 7¼; Co. Down Railway 3 p.c., 43¾; Belfast Corporation 3½ p.c., 1935, 64; British-American Tobacco, 65s. 6d. to 65s. 9d., and Imperial Tobacco at 48s.; Lever 7 p.c., at 15s. 3d., and White Tomkins Pref. at 13s. 4½d.; small lot of Rolls-Royce sold at 20s. 6d.; Workman Clark at 85, and Anglo-Persian 9 p.c. at 22s. 4½d.

STOCKS UNCHANGED.

(FROM THE FINANCIAL NEWS OF TO-DAY.)

A much more cheerful tendency prevailed in the Stock Markets yesterday than had been done for some time past. This was due primarily to the settlement of the coal dispute, which became known on Tuesday too late to have any beneficial effect upon markets, and also to a considerable extent to a general appreciation of the fact that the country is gradually surmounting its labour difficulties, which have been for so long overclouding the financial horizon. There was no material increase in business, except in the market for Government securities, where jobbers reported a rather larger turnover. The best feature of the day was a steady demand for the better classes of investment securities, and, generally speaking, a much more hopeful view was taken as regards the outlook, although it is thought that perhaps in the more speculative stocks the recovery may be slow.

LONDON STOCKS CHEERFUL.

(FROM OUR FINANCIAL CORRESPONDENT.)

On the London Stock Exchange a cheerful feeling pervaded the markets, but there was little increase of business. Generally it is thought there will be no marked revival of business until the Labour situation has completely settled down. The engineering crisis has now to be considered, while the holiday season, now close at hand, is another factor in the position. In the Gilt-edged group, War Loan was supported, improving fractionally to 88⅛, while Consols were firm at 47, with Funding Loan and Victory Bonds much the same as before. There was continued inquiry for the various National War Bonds, though prices did not change. India Threes improved to 50, the Conversion Loan hardened to 63¾, and India Sevens at 3½ prem. were distinctly higher. Tasmania Scrip advanced to ½ prem. Local Loans were better at 55¼.

In Foreign Government Securities support was given to Mexican Fives, which closed unchanged at 59¼. Irrigations were quoted at 60. French Fives were steady at 42, while the Fours were 33¼. German Threes were ¼ lower at 6. Prussian Threes improved ½. Japanese 4½ p.c. were firm, while Norwegian Scrip was weak at ¼ discount.

Home Rails, if not active, were very hopeful, and though dealings were on a small scale some advances were recorded. Midlands rose from 43 to 44¼; Great Western from 64½ to 66, North-Western from 70 to 70½. Underground Incomes were steady at about 82, the £10 shares at 2⅝ and the "A" shares at 7s. Metropolitans rallied to 26. Great Eastern, Brighton A, and Dover A scarcely altered. North London rose 2 points to 54½, and Rhymney Def. was up to 49½.

Canadian Pacifics were unchanged. Grand Trunks were quiet and unchanged. Leopoldinas fell to 19, United Havana Debs. fell 1 to 74. Argentines were quiet.

INDUSTRIALS MORE ACTIVE.

(FROM THE FINANCIAL NEWS OF TO-DAY.)

Though the majority of securities in the Miscellaneous and Industrial market yesterday showed little or no change, as compared with the overnight levels, the better feeling continued to influence quotations, where business materialised, and in certain directions a touch of liveliness was imparted to the proceedings. In the Textile section Amalgamated Cottons were specially prominent, a spurt of 1s. taking place by the end of the day at 14s. 6d. Courtaulds were run up to 35s. 9d., Spinners and Coats were being again in good form, and closing 1/16 up at 1½ x.d. at 2⅛, respectively. English Sewing Cotton were advanced to 1⅛, Bradford Dyers to 1⅞, and Calicos recovered to 16s. 6d. Listers were dull at the price. Crosses and Winkworth spurted 1s. 3d. to 16s. x.d. Among Foodstuffs, Liptons were a little better at 17s. 9d., and Maypoles harder at 7s. 4½d. In the Iron and Steel section Vickers put on a few pence at 13s. 9d., which was also the quotation for the tax free Pref. Ebbw Vale brightened up to 17s., Bolckow Vaughan improved 6d. to 19s. 3d., while Pease and Partners added to the sharp spurt on the previous day at 26s. 6d. Swan Hunter improved to 1⅛, but Baldwins, at 19s. 6d., were slightly easier. General Electric were inquired for at 20s. 6d., in anticipation of a 10 p.c. dividend. West India and Panama Telegraph Shares were flat at 1/16; other cables were off colour, Easterns losing a point at 165, and Eastern Extension 1/16 at 16 1/16. In the Wireless section Marconis, at 2¼, were maintained, and Marines, at 1 1/16, showed an improvement. Movements among Miscellaneous descriptions were not encouraging, Oil Cakes fell back to 21s., Gamages Ord. lost 9d. at 20s. 9d., and Lever 8 p.c. shaded off at 16s. Dunlops were heavy at 11s. 6d. On the other hand, Cements were further supported at 20s. 6d., with the Pref. 14s. 6d. Magadi Sodas rose to 10s., and Imperial Tobacco were harder for choice at 48s. 3d.

MINES STILL DULL.

(FROM THE FINANCIAL NEWS OF TO-DAY.)

With the coal strike virtually at an end, a feeling of intense relief spread throughout the House yesterday. It was evident, however, that time is required to restore public confidence, and consequently there was not the great increase in demand which the optimists had anticipated, and as far as mines were concerned the outside demand showed no great expansion, but the market being none too well supplied with shares professionals were induced by the brighter prospects to replenish their books. The further forward movement of prices was, no doubt, largely due to such operations, the movement, which started with the good class descriptions, gradually spreading throughout the list. The price of gold further declined 2d. to £5 9s. 3d. per oz., and Paris was again not an important factor, so that the improvements, though fairly widespread, were not individually important. In the Rhodesian department disappointment was expressed that public interest remained lacking, and a set back in Chartered created some irregularity. Shamva, it is true, were a good market, and buyers of Gaika again came forward, while Zambesia Exploring moved up, but otherwise changes were quite insignificant. Closing prices:—

OIL FAIRLY FIRM.

(FROM THE FINANCIAL NEWS OF TO-DAY.)

Firmness characterised the Oil Share market at the commencement of business yesterday, and following the better advices from New York and Amsterdam opening prices were generally higher than those ruling at the close on Tuesday. The volume of business, however, showed little expansion, although members reported increased inquiry, particularly from the provincial centres. Interest again centred mainly on the leaders and a few specialities, prominent features being provided by Royal Dutch and Trinidad Centrals. Royal Dutch made a good start at 43, and rose to 43½, but from this point a sharp drop occurred to 42½, followed by a rally in the street dealings to 43¼, at which they closed, showing an appreciable advance. Mexican Eagles also started well, but Paris came in a seller, and the price reacted, although these shares hardened at the end, and finally registered an improvement. Shells were bid for in the early hours, and although the best price was not maintained to the close still showed a gain on balance. The improvement in Anglo-Americans made further headway, and Burmahs were a better market, while higher prices were quoted for the Anglo-Persian Pref. issues. Centrals were an outstanding feature of strength in the Trinidad group, the shares meeting with a kind demand, and advancing smartly in anticipation of a favourable statement at the forthcoming meeting. Among other Trinidad issues Apex and Leaseholds improved. Anglo-Egyptian "B" and Kern Rivers maintained a firm tone, and Lobitos moved up. The more speculative descriptions met with only a small amount of attention, price movements being of an unimportant character. Closing prices:—

RUBBER SHARES NEGLECTED.

(FROM OUR FINANCIAL CORRESPONDENT.)

The Rubber group was languid as ever, and stands more or less on a level of its own. Next to nothing was done, while the changes in prices were of small importance. Rubber Trusts were dull at 11s., and so were Anglo-Dutch at 23s. 2½d. Malayalams at 4s. 3d. were weaker, but Vallambrosas were 3d. higher at 10s. 4½d., while Linggis at 24s. 9d. were unchanged. Most of the lower-priced shares remained as before.

FINANCIAL PARAGRAPHS.

The amalgamation of British Dyes, Ltd., with Levinstein, Ltd., as the British Dyestuffs Corporation, Ltd., is regarded by the Sub-Committee of the Standing Committee on Trusts as—all things considered—in the best interests of the dyes industry, its customers, and the nation. The profits of the Corporation have not borne out the expectations of the prospectus (says the Committee's report, issued yesterday), but some of the economical advantages held out by the amalgamation have been realised. While the Corporation might come to be in a position to exercise a monopoly, the success of several independent dye-making concerns affords a salutary check upon it. Prices charged during the war were higher than was justifiable. There is a minority report by Major Harry Barnes, M.P. He does not find any justification for the amalgamation, which, he considers, was made to secure the normal war profits, and maintain them during peace.

The Canadian Pacific statement for May shows:—Gross earnings $12,892,000, $2,569,000 decrease; working expenses $10,598,000, $2,664,000 decrease; net earnings $2,294,000, $96,000 increase.

The Midland Great Western Railway Company of Ireland gives notice that the transfer books of the Preferential and Consolidated (Ordinary) Stock will be closed from Saturday, July 16th, to Saturday, August 6th, both days inclusive.

THE MONEY MARKET.

Bank Rate (changed June 23, 1921) ...... 6 p.c.

(FROM OUR FINANCIAL CORRESPONDENT.)

The London Money Market had to borrow a fair amount from the bank for a week in loans, but the pressure for accommodation over the half-year was not very heavy. Advances went on at 5 to 5½ per cent. for the week, and 4 to 4½ per cent. for the day. Perhaps, if anything the tendency for bills was easier. September Treasuries were taken as low as 5 per cent., although some quoted 5⅛ per cent., while for delivery next month the rate was 4⅞ per cent. The price of gold at 109s. 3d. per oz. was 2d. lower. Bar silver was ½d. better at 35⅛d. per oz. for spot, and ½d. higher at 35½d. per oz. for forward delivery. The trend of foreign exchanges was favourable to this country, although New York at the close of public business was over a cent lower than the late rate yesterday. During the day the quotation was up to nearly 3.77. Paris did not move in its usual way, and after touching a little over 46.70 as the top, was a few centimes down on the day, but Belgian and Italian currencies depreciated. German marks were also cheaper, and all the other European centres were quoting better for sterling. Greek drachmae had another fall, while Polish marks created another unenviable record.

HOVIS LTD.—Dividend proposed at the rate of 8 per cent. per annum in respect to the period ended 31st March, 1921, both on the old Ordinary Shares of the company and those recently issued, so that all the shares of the company after the 31st March last will rank pari passu in every respect.

WM. CORY AND SON, LTD.—The directors will recommend to the annual ordinary general meeting on the 14th July, 1921, on the Ordinary and Employés' Shares the payment of a final dividend of 5 per cent., making, with the interim dividend, 10 per cent. for the year ended 31st March, 1921, and in addition a bonus of 10 per cent., both less income tax. A proportionate dividend and bonus will be paid on the Employés' Shares ranking for dividend from the 1st January, 1921.

BRAZILIAN TRACTION, LIGHT, AND POWER COMPANY.—The report states that the Board are much disappointed that they have been unable to authorise the resumption of payment of dividends on the ordinary share capital. This has been due to the extremely unfavourable exchange conditions which have prevailed during the past year, and still continues, and the stringency of money which has made it impracticable to finance necessary capital expenditure by the sale of securities.

BURMAH OIL COMPANY.—The report for 1920 states that the profit for the year, after charging income tax, contributions to Employés' Provident Fund, and writing off £1,153,752 for depreciation, is £3,737,723, to which is added £207,041 brought in, making £3,944,765. There has been transferred to insurance reserve £20,000, and to general reserve £195,000, leaving £3,729,765. Interim dividends absorb £537,881, and the directors recommend a final dividend on Ordinary of 4/- per share, free of tax; 7 1-5d. on each 6 p.c. First Preference, equal to 6 per cent. per annum from June 30th to December 31st, less tax, and 6/- per share, equal to 6 per cent. in cash on Second Preference Shares, less tax, leaving £2,142,183, to be carried forward, subject to E.P.D. and Corporation tax estimated at £1,935,000. The production and potentialities of the developed Burmah Oilfields continue to be such as to justify looking forward with confidence for many years to adequate supplies of crude petroleum.

LAW REPORTS.

ACTION AGAINST DUNDALK SOLICITOR.

AN AGENT'S LIABILITY.

Before Mr. Justice Dodd and a city special jury the case of Bullen v. O'Connell was heard. It was an action brought by Martha M. S. Bullen, of 4 Queen's square, Bath, against Daniel O'Connell, solicitor, Dundalk, to recover damages, laid at £1,200, for alleged breach of contract to purchase a house and premises, and, in the alternative, for breach of an implied warranty of authority to make the said contract as agent.

In her statement of claim the plaintiff stated that on 14th October, 1919, she put up for sale by auction the residence and premises situated in Roden place, Dundalk, then lately in the occupation of Dr. P. H. O'Connell, and the highest bidder was Mr. James McArdle, principal assistant of the defendant, and he was declared, and became, the purchaser at £2,050, and signed the agreement for the purchase, subject to the particulars of sale, in trust for Dr. Ward. The specified deposit and auctioneer's fees were not paid. The defendant refused to complete the purchase, and the plaintiff resold the property by auction on 5th July, 1920, for £1,160, leaving a deficiency of £890 on the resale. It was further stated that the defendant was not authorised by Dr. Ward or any other person to make the contract for him as his agent, and that Dr. Ward repudiated the contract, and refused to be bound by it.

In his defence the defendant traversed the alleged cause of action, and denied that James McArdle was managing his professional business, or acting as his agent on the occasion. He also denied the alleged implied authority to make the contract as agent.

Mr. Dickie, K.C.; Mr. J. M. Whitaker, K.C., and Mr. C. S. Campbell (instructed by Messrs. Dickie, Coulter, and Hamill) appeared for the plaintiff; and Mr. S. L. Brown, K.C., and Mr. Lardner (instructed by Messrs. Horan and Devine) for the defendant.

From the evidence it appeared that this transaction occurred when Mr. O'Connell, the defendant, was away in America, he having left Dundalk on 1st September and returned on 19th October.

In his evidence the defendant stated that McArdle had no authority from him to sign his name to the contract of sale, or to any other contract of the kind, and Mr. McArdle, in his evidence, admitted that he had no express authority from Mr. O'Connell to sign the contract, and that he signed Mr. O'Connell's name to it without authority. It was also admitted that there were certain documents which Mr. McArdle could sign for the defendant.

Mr. Justice Dodd, addressing the jury, pointed out that the contract which was repudiated the next day after it was entered into on behalf of Dr. Ward had been evidently signed by Mr. McArdle as Mr. O'Connell's agent, and as having Mr. O'Connell's authority to sign it. His lordship left three questions to the jury:—(1) Did Mr. O'Connell in fact give authority to Mr. McArdle to enter into the contract and sign it so as to bind him; (2) Was Mr. McArdle acting within the scope of his authority in signing this document by (on behalf of) Mr. O'Connell; and (3) Did Mr. O'Connell hold out Mr. McArdle as having such authority?

The jury returned a verdict for the plaintiff for £600 damages, and judgment was entered for her accordingly, with costs.

The jury found that the defendant did not, in fact, give McArdle authority to sign the contract. They found that McArdle was acting within the scope of his authority in signing the document; and they also found that Mr. O'Connell held out Mr. McArdle as having such authority.

GENEROUS BEQUESTS TO CHARITIES.—At Nisi Prius, before Mr. Justice Samuels and a city common jury, the action brought by Dr. Charles Kenny, Ballyiongford, Co. Longford; Bartholomew Colling, Strand House, Dollymount, Co. Dublin, and P. J. Byrne, solicitor, Carlow, to prove the will of Christina Duff, late of Newbridge, Co. Kildare, came on for hearing. The defendant was Margaret Gorman, of Millmount terrace, Drumcondra, Dublin, a relative of the testatrix. She alleged that the will had not been duly executed according to law, and that she was not in a state of mind to dispose of her property. The plaintiffs sued as executors named in the will. The testatrix was a widow, and was the owner of landed property at Ballymahon, and in the county of Westmeath, her total assets being about £7,000. By her will she left most of her estate to charities, and her bequests included £500 to the Mater Hospital, Dublin; £1,000 to be distributed amongst the branches of the St. Vincent de Paul Society for the relief of the poor; to the Rev. T. Tynan, P.P., of Newbridge, £250; and to each of the curates of that parish £50 for Masses for the repose of her soul and the repose of the soul of her late husband. She bequeathed a further sum of £1,000 for Masses for her deceased relatives and herself, to be distributed amongst the priests of the White Abbey, Kildare, and those of the Parish of Kildare, Suncroft, County Kildare, Shrule, Longford, and Aughnalin, Co. Westmeath. The residue of her property she left to her executors and trustees, to be applied by them as they thought fit. She also directed that each of her executors should have £100 for acting as such executors. Mr. P. J. Byrne, solicitor, Carlow, and one of his clerks, proved the execution of the will, and gave it as their opinion that the testatrix was fully competent to dispose of her property. Dr. Roantree, Newbridge, also gave evidence to show that at the time she executed the will she was perfectly mentally competent. Mr. J. A. Costello (instructed by Mr. Friery), for the defendant, said that, having regard to the evidence just given, he could not further oppose probate. The will was, however, one which eminently required investigation. The relatives of the deceased felt aggrieved that they should have been ignored, and that this large sum of £7,000 should go altogether to charities. Under the circumstances, he thought that the defendant should be allowed her costs out of the estate. Mr. Healy, K.C., with whom were Mr. Sealy, K.C., and Mr. E. Sheehy (instructed by Mr. P. J. Byrne), for the plaintiffs, said that he did not object to the proposal. The jury found a verdict establishing the will. Mr. Justice Samuels decreed probate, and allowed all the parties their costs out of the estate.

CONVERSION OF A LIFEBOAT.—A settlement was announced in the action in which Mr. James Kearney (trading as Kearney and Company), shipwright, of 67 Thorncastle street, Ringsend, sought to recover from Mr. Henry B. O'Hanlon, solicitor, 58 Dame street, Dublin, £82 odd, the balance of an account alleged to be due in respect of the conversion of a lifeboat into a motor boat. The defendant traversed the cause of action, and pleaded that the plaintiff's claim was satisfied before the action was brought. He also pleaded that the work was done negligently. The case having been partly heard before Mr. Justice Samuels and a city common jury, it was announced that a consent had been entered into between the parties. The concent provided that the defendant should pay to the plaintiff £55 in full discharge of the plaintiff's claim, together with all costs of, and incidental to, the action when taxed and ascertained. Mr. Justice Samuels received the consent, and made it a rule of Court. Mr. Wood, K.C., and Mr. Geoghegan (instructed by Messrs. William Smith and Son) appeared for the plaintiff; and Mr. Lynch, K.C., and Mr. Costello (instructed by Mr. O'Hanlon) for the defendant.

INCREASED AWARD TO OFFICER'S WIDOW.—Mr. Justice Pim delivered judgment in the case of Mrs. Ethel N. Montgomery v. the Dublin Corporation, the Dublin County Council, the Pembroke Urban District Council, and the Rathmines Urban District. Mrs. Montgomery appealed from the decision of the Recorder of Dublin, who awarded her £8,000 compensation for the death of her husband, Lieutenant-Colonel Montgomery, C.M.G., D.S.O., who was on General Sir Nevil Macready's Staff, and who was shot in a house in Upper Pembroke street, Dublin, on the morning of Sunday, 21st November, 1920, and who died subsequently. It was stated that Lieut.-Colonel Montgomery had received the distinction of the French Legion of Honour and other war distinctions. Mr. Justice Pim increased the compensation from £8,000 to £10,000. Mr. Price, K.C. (instructed by Messrs. Bradley and Sons), appeared for the applicant, Mrs. Montgomery; Mr. Dockrell (instructed by Messrs. Gerald Byrne and Co.) for the Pembroke Urban Council; and Mr. Russell, solicitor, for the Rathmines Urban District Council.

DUBLIN CONTRACTOR'S ACTION.—At Nisi Prius, before Mr. Justice Moore and a city special jury, the second trial of the action of Joseph P. Somers, building contractor, v. the South Dublin Rural District Council took place. The plaintiff claimed £3,396 1/- for extras and increased cost of materials and for changed plans in connection with a contract for the building of labourers' cottages at Pelletstown and Rafter's lane, Co. Dublin. The defendants counter-claimed for £306 alleged to have been overpaid by them. Mr. Justice Moore left a number of questions to the jury, some of which they answered, and, as to others, they could not agree. Mr. Justice Moore held on the findings of the jury that it was a disagreement, and he discharged the jury. Mr. Healy, K.C.; Mr. MacLoone, K.C., and Mr. Moonan (instructed by Mr. John Moran) appeared for the plaintiff; and Mr. Clancy, K.C.; Mr. Lynch, K.C., and Mr. Philip O'C. White (instructed by Mr. John T. Doyle) for the defendants.

MARKET REPORTS.

CATTLE.

WAKEFIELD, Wednesday.—Similar supply of fat cattle to last week, consisting of Scotch and Yorkshire fed animals of useful quality. There was a good attendance of buyers, but trade was slow, and prices show a reduction of ½d. to ¾d. per lb. on the week. First quality cattle averaging 1/51 per lb., or 20/9 per 14lbs. stone; second quality 1/44 and third quality 1/3 per lb. Smaller supply of fat sheep, which met a slow trade; prices, however, show no material change on the week. Downs and crossbreds realising 1/5 per lb., while a good show of Yorkshire-fed lambs realised 1/9 to 2/- per lb. Numbers on offer—Cattle 384, sheep 1,684, dairy cows 16, store cattle 5.

GLASGOW, Wednesday.—There was a fairly large show of Scotch cattle on market to-day, and the quality was up to the usual standard. Trade for all classes ruled at prices similar to those of last week, although the heavier sorts were in shorter demand. Sheep and lambs a good show; handy weights met a good selling trade, with the heavier classes hard to cash.

EDINBURGH, Wednesday.—There were only 31 cattle and 48 cows in to-day's market. No sheep. The cattle sold at reduced prices. Cows a fair trade. Stirks sold to £31, heifers £34, shorthorn cows to £32.

PROVISIONS.

LIVERPOOL, Wednesday.—The steadiness in the BACON market for American selections continues owing to the strength in Chicago and dearer hogs, while the termination of the coal strike is expected to bring about an increased consumption. Cumberlands and bellies are in fair request, light weights of former being scarce, while Wiltshires are more sought after on account of their relative cheapness, but backs and long clears remain quiet, though prices are about unchanged all round. Canadian Wiltshires still in fair request owing to the scarcity of other high-class meats. Irish difficult to find at 175/- to 195/-, ex factory, according to average. Danish, Swedish, and Dutch move fairly, with offerings still of limited extent. HAMS again freely inquired for at 170/- for both long and short cut, but almost unobtainable. Shoulders scarce and small offerings freely absorbed. LARD on the spot, following higher c.i.f. quotations, is held for 6d. to 1/- per cwt. advance, prime steam being scarce and American refined in demand at unchanged rates.
